ROLL OF HONOUR.
IN MEMORIAM.

AINSCOW—In loving memory of George, 9th Royal Fusiliers, only son and youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. Ainscow, Killed in France on September 18th, 1918.

BREEN—In proud and ever-loving memory of Major T. F. Pennefather Breen, R.A.M.C., killed in action, in France, September 16th, 1918, elder and dearly-loved son of the late Inspector-General T. J. Breen, Royal Navy, and Mrs. Breen, Waterloo rd.

BREWER—In proud and loving memory of our dearly-loved son, James Angus (Gus), Captain, 9th South Lancashire Regiment, second son of Lieutenant H. Brewer, R.N., Kingstown, killed in Salonika September 18th, 1918, aged 25 years. We thank God for every remembrance of him."

BREWER—In proud memory of our beloved nephew, James Angus Brewer (T.C.D.), Captain, 9th South Lancs., who was killed while gallantly leading his men in the opening attack on the Bulgars on the 18th September, 1918; and of the Officers, Non-Coms., and Men—gallant gentlemen all—who fell with him on that memorable morn.
"Even as he trod that day to God,
So walked he from his birth,
In simpleness and gentleness,
And honour and clean mirth."

REDMOND—In ever-lasting memory of my beloved husband, Private Thomas Redmond, 2nd Irish Guards, who gave his life for his country, at the Somme, September, 1916.

ROBERTSON—In proud and loving memory of my beloved and only son, Major J. G. Robertson (C. Rob"), D.S.O., M.C., who died of wounds September 18th, 1918.

TAYLOR—In loving memory of Second Lieutenant Norman L. Taylor, King's Liverpool Regiment, who died of wounds received in France 18th September, 1916, only child of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor, Rockview, Hillstreet, Drumcondra, Co. Roscommon.
Fresh in our hearts his memory clings,
Yet still we mourn;
Each passing year will nearer bring
The day we'll meet once more.

TULLY—In ever-loving memory of my beloved husband, James Kivas Tully, Captain Middlesex Regiment, who died on September 19th, 1916, from wounds received in action while leading his men. "He pleased God and was beloved of Him, so that he was translated."

THE FIT MAN WINS!
This is true in every walk of life. The triumph of physical fitness is apparent everywhere. In the great World of Business and in the Realms of Recreation and Sport success comes to the one who is physically fit. More than ever in the history of race has great quality come to-day. Physical fitness—which also carries with it mental alertness and general all-round efficiency—is greatly to be desired. Everybody would like to be fit; everybody, too, needs to be fit, if success is to be won and satisfaction achieved. Life is so much more worth living if it is accompanied by vigorous health. Physical fitness depends more upon the effective working of the process of digestion than upon anything else. A sound digestion is really at the root of the matter. Any means, therefore, likely to strengthen or maintain this important function is to be heartily welcomed. Beecham's Pills long ago won golden opinions for their splendid work in keeping health right by maintaining a sound and healthy digestive system. They have proved to be an ideal medicine and one which always does good. Although wonderfully efficacious as an aperient, a tonic, and blood-purifying preparation they are perfectly harmless, and are suitable to either sex, young or old. Thousands of busy men and women owe their fitness to

ORDER, DATED 29th JUNE, 1920, CONFIRMING SCHEME NO. 17.
COUNTY OF DUBLIN—RURAL DISTRICT OF NORTH DUBLIN.

NOTICE OF APPOINTMENT OF ARBITRATOR AND DATE OF INQUIRY.

Whereas the Local Government Board for Ireland duly made application to the Reference Committee for Compensation) Act, 1919, for the appointment of an Official Arbitrator in the matter of the Order of the Local Government Board for Ireland, dated the 29th day of June, 1920, confirming Scheme No. 17, County Dublin Rural District, North Dublin, for the acquisition of the lands set out in the Schedule thereto:

Notice is hereby given that the said Reference Committee for Ireland have appointed George Hewson, Esq., of 51 Merrion square, Dublin, Official Arbitrator to determine the compensation payable in respect of the lands comprised in the above Scheme and for all the purposes of the said Acts.

Copies of the Prescribed Maps and Schedules have been deposited, and may be seen at the Office of the Local Government Board for Ireland, at the Custom House, in the City of Dublin, on each week-day between the hours of 11 o'clock a.m. and 4 o'clock p.m. (except Saturdays, and on Saturdays between the hours of 11 o'clock a.m. and 1 o'clock p.m.

And Notice is hereby given that on Thursday, the 30th day of September, 1920, at the hour of 11 o'clock a.m. the said Arbitrator will sit in the Court of the Reference Commissioner for Ireland, Four Courts, Dublin, to hear all parties interested, who may appear before him, and to decide as to the amount of compensation to be paid in any case in which the Local Government Board for Ireland and the parties interested may have failed to agree as to the amount of the compensation to be paid in respect of the taking of any of the lands set out in the said Schedule, and such sittings may be continued from time to time as occasion may require.

All persons claiming to have any right or interest in the lands, hereditaments and premises in said Schedule mentioned are hereby required to deliver or send by post prepaid to the said George Hewson, at his address as aforesaid, on or before the 25th day of September, 1920, a short statement in writing of the nature of such claim and the amount of compensation or purchase money demanded by claimants.

Dated this 25th day of August, 1920.

NEW CHURCH TO OUR LADY OF LOURDES,
LR. GLOUCESTER STREET, DUBLIN.
A Temporary Edifice has been erected on the site secured for the New Church, which is badly needed in this locality.
It is already crowded, and the Shrine has aroused a deep spirit of devotion to Our Lady of Lourdes, with most beneficial results among the children.
The Accommodation afforded by the Temporary Church is inadequate. The Administrator strongly appeals to the Catholics of Dublin and of Ireland for the means to undertake the building of the New Church. The district being one of the most densely populated and poorest in the city, little personal aid can be expected from it.
The Holy Sacrifice of the Mass will be offered EACH WEEK for Subscribers.
Subscriptions will be thankfully received by any of the Clergy, or by

WEATHER FORECAST.

General Inference.—The depression lying over Scotland is dispersing, but further depressions and secondaries are likely to come from the Atlantic and maintain unstable conditions, though bright intervals are probable. Unsettled weather is expected to continue for some days.

Ireland.—Winds between south and west, moderate or fresh, strong locally; much cloud, some rain; visibility fair; temperature moderate.

LIGHTING-UP TIME ..... 8.35 P.M.

The Irish Times.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 1920.

The New York police state that the great explosion in Wall street on Thursday was caused by a bomb charged with T.N.T. and shrapnel.

M. Millerand, who is said to be favourite for the office of President in succession to M. Deschanel, states that he will not be a candidate. He has given reasons for continuing at his post as French Premier.

Following the conference of the miners' delegates with Sir Robert Horne yesterday in London, official circles are hopeful, notwithstanding the attitude of the delegates on the 2s. increase question, that a settlement will be reached without resort to extreme measures.

At the conference of the Sanitary Inspectors' Association at Margate yesterday a resolution was passed calling for better administration of the local health system and urging that the work of proposed new authorities should be supervised by the Ministry of Health.

Sir Ernest Clarke, the newly-appointed Assistant Under-Secretary for Ireland, arrived in Belfast yesterday.

At a special meeting yesterday of the Clogher Diocesan Synod a supplemental financial scheme proposed by the Diocesan Council for the augmentation of the incomes of the clergy in the diocese was adopted, and resolutions were passed to carry the scheme into effect.

Joseph Athy succumbed to bullet wounds in St. Bride's Home, Galway, yesterday. While going home from work near Oranmore on Thursday, with three other men, he was fired on by a number of men from behind a hedge.

The military visited the railway stations in Cork and Limerick yesterday, and took possession of the mails on their arrival by train.

Two further arrests in connection with the murder of District Inspector Swanzy were effected in Belfast yesterday. The men, with four others previously arrested, were formally remanded.

The London Stock Markets concluded the week in a cheerful mood, with specialities strong. The French Loan rose sharply. Money was easier, and discounts worked freely. In Dublin the market was better, and many prices improved.

The Industrial Outlook.

For the past few weeks public opinion in these islands has been focussed on the dangers of a coal strike. The immediate prospect of industrial paralysis which Mr. Smillie's threat revealed was so appalling that other vital, if remoter, problems were forgotten for the time being. Apart altogether from the coal crisis, which, undoubtedly, is pregnant with menace, the industrial outlook is anything but hopeful. Our people find themselves on the threshold of another winter which may prove to be the most severe season since the birth of the century. Housing conditions throughout the Kingdom were never worse than they are to-day. Food prices are high and likely to become higher. Warm clothing is at a premium, and fuel may become extremely scarce. Moreover, the nation is starting the winter with certain psychological, as well as economic, disadvantages. Victory sent the pendulum of popular spirits to the utmost limit of its swing, but it has come back with inevitable sureness, and the ecstasy of relief and joy felt on the conclusion of peace has been followed by a strong reaction. People are beginning to recognise that the end of the war was but the end of a phase, and that victory's fruits cannot be gathered save at the cost of years of toil. They have been earning plenty of money, and spending it. The great and sudden boom in industry which followed immediately upon the cessation of hostilities created an atmosphere of prosperity throughout the country. Looms roared, engines throbbed, all the great machinery of industrial Britain was a-hum. Workers found that the strike weapon could procure them higher wages and easier hours as readily as Aladdin's lamp satisfied the wishes of its owner. The labour world and the business world flourished, and, unfortunately for everybody, jumped at the conclusion that their unexpected prosperity was permanent. They were wrong.

The greed of Labour and the greed of "profiteers" have defeated their own ends. Great Britain is approaching a slump in industry and commerce, and the spectre of "no work" looms grim and gaunt on the clouded horizon of the winter. In the first place, there is a general tightening up of capital. Uncertainty kills enterprise, and the high bank rate deters men from all but the safest investments. Already the motor trade, which enjoyed such a boom since the armistice, is beginning to feel the pinch. High costs of production, dear money, and bad exchanges have done their work. The boom is nearing its end, and a slump seems now to be inevitable. Motor cars, it may be argued, are a luxury, and, if people refuse to buy them, so much the better. In a way the argument is sound, but the motor trade gives a very great deal of employment to skilled workers, and a slump will mean a flooding of the labour market. The cotton trade also is before a crisis. The English Spinners' Federation met on Tuesday to consider a proposal to put the cotton mills on short time, and, although no decision was reached, the proposal will be advanced again on next Tuesday week. Many of the mills have been closed temporarily, and in many others part of the machinery has been stopped. The demand for textiles has become very small, chiefly, as in the case of most other commodities, on account of exorbitant prices, and the exports of cloth this year are less than three-fourths of what they were during the corresponding period of 1913. The engineering trade—especially on the Clyde—is little happier. The closing down of the Sopwith Aviation and Engineering Company, although unimportant in itself, is symptomatic. Numerous concerns are beginning to find themselves in financial straits, and the banks are becoming more and more chary of pulling industrial chestnuts out of the fire.

Any serious decline in British trade must react unfavourably on every town and hamlet in the still United Kingdom. For that reason, if for no other, it behoves bodies like the Dublin Corporation and the Joint Committee of the Richmond Lunatic Asylum to set their houses in order without delay. The best ally of every community during the coming winter will be stability, and every country and public body should do what in them lies to stand four-square against the forces of disruption which may be set loose between now and the spring of next year. England and Ireland are in the same boat. Here, as across the Channel, economic faults have been committed. Irishmen, too, have had their "good time" since the war, and must be prepared to pay for it. Many of the necessaries of life, and all its luxuries, will be dear and scarce during the coming months. Therefore, people must do without as much as possible, and ease the tension by consuming less. Workers should call a halt in their demands for higher wages. Merchants should reduce their profits to a reasonable level. Everybody should work harder and grumble less. Whatever economic ills may visit Great Britain and Ireland, their inhabitants have one great source of consolation: other countries are worse. Compared with Russia, Germany, Italy, France, and the sorry patchwork of Central Europe and the Balkans, these little islands of ours constitute a land flowing with milk and honey. This knowledge should console us, and, furthermore, should give our workers food for thought. Few of them seem to realise how fortunate they are and how much they owe to the toil of their forefathers. The British people have a wonderful heritage. The next few months, possibly, may decide whether it will be allowed to slip from their grasp, or will be bequeathed to their children greater and richer than ever.

America and Japan.

The question of Japanese immigration is once more acute in the United States, and the two Governments are said to be much concerned about it. The new trouble comes, as always, from California. There are very strong reasons, both political and economic, for a good understanding between Japan and America. They are the guardians of the Pacific and their commercial relations are developing a great importance. During the last five years the volume of United States exports to Japan has increased by four hundred per cent. and that of Japanese exports to the United States by two hundred per cent. California, however, dislikes the Japanese and insists from time to time on passing State legislation which is highly embarrassing to the Central Government at Washington. Eighty thousand of the 120,000 Japanese in the whole country are resident in California. The local attitude to them is based partly on racial prejudice and partly on economic jealousy. California complains that some of the best fruit-growing districts in the State are being monopolised by Japanese colonies, with whose patient and inexorable industry Americans cannot compete. Lafcadio Hearn said twenty years ago that the prodigal civilisation of America could not hope to compete with the frugal civilisation of Japan, and California admits that he spoke the truth. The Japanese spends less than the American and produces more. He is the world's master in the art of intensive cultivation—as we may read in Jack London's delightful story, "The Valley of the Moon." Moreover, he is not a sociable creature. Unlike the Irish, the Germans, and other immigrants, he "keeps to himself," and every one of his American colonies is a little bit of Japan. The result is that he has been for many years the victim of a lively antipathy in California. The anti-Japanese propaganda is conducted by many organisations, including the Oriental Exclusion League and "The Native Sons of the Golden West." The existing legislation is exceedingly severe. Japanese may not buy land in California unless they are American-born, and may not take a lease of lands for more than three years. The American Government dislikes these penalties, and, naturally, looks at the whole question from a wider point of view. Apart from its desire to maintain good relations with Japan, it knows that the Japanese are excellent citizens and have no sympathy with the socialistic unrest which now pervades the whole Northern Continent. The Presidential campaign has brought matters to a head. The Californian Legislature proposes to take an early vote on a project for abridging still further the right of Japanese to own land, and is appealing alike to the Democratic and Republican wire-pullers with some success. The Democratic platform has a plank which pledges the support of the Federal Government to the views of those States that are most concerned with the Japanese problem, and Senator Harding, the Republican nominee, is leaning in the same direction. The present Government at Washington is most anxious to arrange matters in some way that will prevent an anti-Asiatic agitation of really serious proportions. It hopes to secure an agreement with Japan which will stop all future immigration in return for the granting of proper rights to the existing Japanese population of the United States. Such an arrangement, it is thought, would be accept

ORDER, DATED 29th JUNE, 1920, CONFIRMING SCHEME NO. 17, COUNTY OF DUBLIN—RURAL DISTRICT OF NORTH DUBLIN.
NOTICE OF APPOINTMENT OF ARBITRATOR AND DATE OF INQUIRY.
Whereas the Local Government Board for Ireland duly made application to the Reference Committee for Ireland under the Acquisition of Land (Assessment of Compensation) Act, 1919, for the appointment of an Official Arbitrator in the matter of the Order of the Local Government Board for Ireland, dated the 29th day of June, 1920, confirming Scheme No. 17, County Dublin Rural District, North Dublin, for the acquisition of the lands set out in the Schedule thereto:
Notice is hereby given that the said Reference Committee for Ireland have appointed George Hewson, Esq., of 51, Merrion square, Dublin, Official Arbitrator to determine the compensation payable in respect of the lands comprised in the above Scheme and for all the purposes of the said Acts.
Copies of the Prescribed Maps and Schedules have been deposited, and may be seen at the Office of the Local Government Board for Ireland, at the Custom House, in the City of Dublin, on each week-day, between the hours of 11 o'clock a.m. and 4 o'clock p.m. (except on Saturdays, and on Saturdays between the hours of 11 o'clock a.m. and 1 o'clock p.m.).
And Notice is hereby given that on Thursday, the 30th day of September, 1920, at the hour of 11 o'clock a.m. the said Arbitrator will sit in the Court of the Reference Committee for Ireland, Four Courts, Dublin, to hear all parties interested, who may appear before him, and to decide as to the amount of compensation to be paid in any case in which the Local Government Board for Ireland and the parties interested may have failed to agree as to the amount of the compensation to be paid in respect of the taking of any of the lands set out in the said Schedules, and any Sitting may be adjourned from time to time as occasion may require.
All persons claiming to have any right or interest in the lands, hereditaments and premises in said Schedule mentioned are hereby required to deliver or send by post prepaid to the said George Hewson, at his address aforesaid, on or before the 25th day of September, 1920, a short statement in writing of the nature of such claim and the amount of compensation or purchase money claimed by such claimants.
Dated this 26th day of August, 1920.

The New York police state that the great explosion in Wall street on Thursday was caused by a bomb charged with T.N.T. and shrapnel.

M. Millerand, who is said to be favourite for the office of President in succession to M. Deschanel, states that he will not be a candidate. He has given reasons for continuing at his post as French Premier.

Following the conference of the miners' delegates with Sir Robert Horne yesterday in London, official circles are hopeful, notwithstanding the attitude of the delegates on the 2s. increase question, that a settlement will be reached without resort to extreme measures.

At the conference of the Sanitary Inspectors' Association at Margate yesterday a resolution was passed calling for better administration of the local health system and urging that the work of proposed new authorities should be supervised by the Ministry of Health.

Sir Ernest Clarke, the newly-appointed Assistant Under-Secretary for Ireland, arrived in Belfast yesterday.

At a special meeting yesterday of the Clogher Diocesan Synod a supplemental financial scheme proposed by the Diocesan Council for the augmentation of the incomes of the clergy in the diocese was adopted, and resolutions were passed to carry the scheme into effect.

Joseph Athy succumbed to bullet wounds in St. Bride's Home, Galway, yesterday. While going home from work near Oranmore on Thursday, with three other men, he was fired on by a number of men from behind a hedge.

The military visited the railway stations in Cork and Limerick yesterday, and took possession of the mails on their arrival by train.

Two further arrests in connection with the murder of District Inspector Swanzy were effected in Belfast yesterday. The men, with four others previously arrested, were formally remanded.

The London Stock Markets concluded the week in a cheerful mood, with specialities strong. The French Loan rose sharply. Money was easier, and discounts worked freely. In Dublin the market was better, and many prices improved.

The Industrial Outlook.

For the past few weeks public opinion in these islands has been focussed on the dangers of a coal strike. The immediate prospect of industrial paralysis which Mr. Smillie's threat revealed was so appalling that other vital, if remoter, problems were forgotten for the time being. Apart altogether from the coal crisis, which, undoubtedly, is pregnant with menace, the industrial outlook is anything but hopeful. Our people find themselves on the threshold of another winter which may prove to be the most severe season since the birth of the century. Housing conditions throughout the Kingdom were never worse than they are to-day. Food prices are high and likely to become higher. Warm clothing is at a premium, and fuel may become extremely scarce. Moreover, the nation is starting the winter with certain psychological, as well as economic, disadvantages. Victory sent the pendulum of popular spirits to the utmost limit of its swing, but it has come back with inevitable sureness, and the ecstasy of relief and joy felt on the conclusion of peace has been followed by a strong reaction. People are beginning to recognise that the end of the war was but the end of a phase, and that victory's fruits cannot be gathered save at the cost of years of toil. They have been earning plenty of money, and spending it. The great and sudden boom in industry which followed immediately upon the cessation of hostilities created an atmosphere of prosperity throughout the country. Looms roared, engines throbbed, all the great machinery of industrial Britain was a-hum. Workers found that the strike weapon could procure them higher wages and easier hours as readily as Aladdin's lamp satisfied the wishes of its owner. The labour world and the business world flourished, and, unfortunately for everybody, jumped at the conclusion that their unexpected prosperity was permanent. They were wrong.

The greed of Labour and the greed of "profiteers" have defeated their own ends. Great Britain is approaching a slump in industry and commerce, and the spectre of "no work" looms grim and gaunt on the clouded horizon of the winter. In the first place, there is a general tightening up of capital. Uncertainty kills enterprise, and the high bank rate deters men from all but the safest investments. Already the motor trade, which enjoyed such a boom since the armistice, is beginning to feel the pinch. High costs of production, dear money, and bad exchanges have done their work. The boom is nearing its end, and a slump seems now to be inevitable. Motor cars, it may be argued, are a luxury, and, if people refuse to buy them, so much the better. In a way the argument is sound, but the motor trade gives a very great deal of employment to skilled workers, and a slump will mean a flooding of the labour market. The cotton trade also is before a crisis. The English Spinners' Federation met on Tuesday to consider a proposal to put the cotton mills on short time, and, although no decision was reached, the proposal will be advanced again on next Tuesday week. Many of the mills have been closed temporarily, and in many others part of the machinery has been stopped. The demand for textiles has become very small, chiefly, as in the case of most other commodities, on account of exorbitant prices, and the exports of cloth this year are less than three-fourths of what they were during the corresponding period of 1913. The engineering trade—especially on the Clyde—is little happier. The closing down of the Sopwith Aviation and Engineering Company, although unimportant in itself, is symptomatic. Numerous concerns are beginning to find themselves in financial straits, and the banks are becoming more and more chary of puffing industrial chestnuts out of the fire.

Any serious decline in British trade must react unfavourably on every town and hamlet in the still United Kingdom. For that reason, if for no other, it behoves bodies like the Dublin Corporation and the Joint Committee of the Richmond Lunatic Asylum to set their houses in order without delay. The best ally of every community during the coming winter will be stability, and every country and public body should do what in them lies to stand four-square against the forces of disruption which may be set loose between now and the spring of next year. England and Ireland are in the same boat. Here, as across the Channel, economic faults have been committed. Irishmen, too, have had their "good time" since the war, and must be prepared to pay for it. Many of the necessaries of life, and all its luxuries, will be dear and scarce during the coming months. Therefore, people must do without as much as possible, and ease the tension by consuming less. Workers should call a halt in their demands for higher wages. Merchants should reduce their profits to a reasonable level. Everybody should work harder and grumble less. Whatever economic ills may visit Great Britain and Ireland, their inhabitants have one great source of consolation: other countries are worse. Compared with Russia, Germany, Italy, France, and the sorry patchwork of Central Europe and the Balkans, these little islands of ours constitute a land flowing with milk and honey. This knowledge should console us, and, furthermore, should give our workers food for thought. Few of them seem to realise how fortunate they are and how much they owe to the toil of their forefathers. The British people have a wonderful heritage. The next few months, possibly, may decide whether it will be allowed to slip from their grasp, or will be bequeathed to their children greater and richer than ever.

America and Japan.

The question of Japanese immigration is once more acute in the United States, and the two Governments are said to be much concerned about it. The new trouble comes, as always, from California. There are very strong reasons, both political and economic, for a good understanding between Japan and America. They are the guardians of the Pacific and their commercial relations are developing a great importance. During the last five years the volume of United States exports to Japan has increased by four hundred per cent. and that of Japanese exports to the United States by two hundred per cent. California, however, dislikes the Japanese and insists from time to time on passing State legislation which is highly embarrassing to the Central Government at Washington. Eighty thousand of the 120,000 Japanese in the whole country are resident in California. The local attitude to them is based partly on racial prejudice and partly on economic jealousy. California complains that some of the best fruit-growing districts in the State are being monopolised by Japanese colonies, with whose patient and inexorable industry Americans cannot compete. Lafcadio Hearn said twenty years ago that the prodigal civilisation of America could not hope to compete with the frugal civilisation of Japan, and California admits that he spoke the truth. The Japanese spends less than the American and produces more. He is the world's master in the art of intensive cultivation—as we may read in Jack London's delightful story, "The Valley of the Moon." Moreover, he is not a sociable creature. Unlike the Irish, the Germans, and other immigrants, he "keeps to himself," and every one of his American colonies, is a little bit of Japan. The result is that he has been for many years the

LONDON CORRESPONDENCE.

50 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
FRIDAY NIGHT.

The coal situation does not appear to be much easier after the prolonged negotiations at the Board of Trade, for after to-day's proceedings Mr. Smillie stated that the miners would not discuss any of the Government proposals unless they received the 2s. increase in wages demanded. An anxious situation, however, is rather lightened by the fact that the miners at present have abandoned their claim to fix the price of coal. This alone has greatly eased the position. With regard to the wages, it is understood that the Government will absolutely refuse to agree to any advance, except on a basis providing for a greater production of coal.

The Government is willing that any question of an advance of wages shall be referred to the Industrial Court; but, if the miners have no real case for such an increase, they are unlikely to agree to this suggestion. The services of the Industrial Court need not be invoked if the miners would agree to an increase in pay dependent on output, though it is quite possible that there would have to be an inquiry of some kind. If the miners really have the interests of the consumers at heart, they can easily help them, for, if the output were increased by one-half, the poor would once again be able to secure coal at a reasonable price, while the cost of living would come tumbling down with a run.

The conference has been adjourned until Monday afternoon, so it is too early to abandon hope; but there was considerable despondency in business circles to-day, and it is feared that Mr. Smillie still intends to force a strike if he can. This point of view, however, is of too gloomy a character. Mr. Smillie has very strong opponents in the ranks of the Executive of the Miners' Federation, and he will be unable to get things all his own way. Tuesday is now regarded as the crucial day, so everybody must wait in patience until then.

I mentioned on Wednesday that a large amount of business was being done in the insurance world in connection with a possible strike. This business has increased, and so have the rates. Lloyd's are now asking 2s. 6d. per cent. for insurance of business premises in case of disturbance and 1s. per cent. for private houses and personal belongings. The period in both cases is for six months only.

The spectre of unemployment during the coming winter is causing much worry and anxiety to the Labour leaders generally, and most of them are very desirous that there should be an end to strikes and strike threats. Some of them recognise that unemployment is nothing short of criminal circumstances that may compel them to take steps that they otherwise would not contemplate. Many works are now being carried on form day to day, and it is no secret that some recent closures were brought about by inability to secure capital. Unions are concerned about this inability of their schemes of unemployment insurance in supplement of the State scheme, and they want peace and quiet in order that they may ascertain how they stand.

Geneva is said to be buzzing about the first general assembly of the League of Nations, which is to take place in the old city on November. There will be one hundred and twenty delegates, and each group will be attended by a considerable staff, so that very large accommodation will be required. The delegates from Great Britain have not yet been selected, and the possibility of the Prime Minister's going is not being mooted. It is a most difficult question, and one that will give rise to much discussion, will be that of the admission of Germany into the League. It is said that the English-speaking people may be in favour of admission, but that the Latin countries may not.

The Railway Rates Advisory Committee is now preparing its report, and it is expected that it will be available before very long. This report will deal with goods rates, and it is probable that an average increase of 50 per cent. will be recommended. The railways will be returned to their owners in a measure at the end of next July, but, seeing that the Ministry of Transport has gone into operation its scheme of co-ordination and supervision, the restoration will most likely be in name only.

The terrible explosion in New York was generally unknown here last night, though there were rumours that something of a very startling kind had happened in the United States. It is indicated to-day that the police authorities in New York believe the outrage to be due to a deliberate plot, fostered by international extremists. No messages to this effect have been received by the special branch at Scotland Yard, but the police are keeping a close watch on a number of men with very extreme views in this country, and certain precautions have been taken. These steps will not be relaxed since such a course would naturally defeat the object of the police, but it is known that many places are most carefully watched. Some months ago information was received by the police here and in New York that certain extremists meant to do harm, not only in the United States, but in Great Britain and her daughter Dominions.

Mr. Lansbury, of the Daily Herald, was very scornful to-day when questioned with regard to a statement supposed to have come from him that he was willing that his bank book, and the pass books of other directors of his paper, should be open to an inquiry set up by the Labour Party; and he refused to make any statement, and did Mr. R. Williams, also a director. The Evening News, however, says that it is able to state that a drastic inquiry is now on foot, and that much more will be heard of the matter.

Lady Margaret Forbes, who will wed Captain the Hon. George Saville, son of the fourth Earl of Mexborough, on Wednesday next at St. Mary's, Cadogan street, will wear a beautiful wedding dress of rose point lace, over a foundation dress of white satin. The lace, which was worn by the late Countess of Granard at her wedding, is attached to broad bands of satin, which are picturesquely draped about the gown, and cross in front of the skirt. A train of the same lace is attached to the shoulders of the gown, and a veil of tulle will be held in the hair by a coronet of myrtle. The bride will be attended by two train-bearers, Winifred Forbes, her nephew, and Lady Beatrice Savile, the baby daughter of the bridegroom, who both will be dressed in white satin. The Roman Catholic Bishop of Southwark will officiate, and the bride will be given away by her brother, Lord Granard.

THE ARCHBISHOP OF DUBLIN.

At the last meeting of the Kilkenny Technical Committee, the Mayor said that since the last meeting the Right Rev. Dr. Gregg had had a great distinction conferred upon him in being elected Archbishop of Dublin, and he thought the Committee should offer their congratulations to him. He might say, from his experience of Dr. Gregg, that he was always struck with his sincerity and his anxiety to do what was right and straight and just. It was a pleasure to act on the Committee with him. He had great pleasure in proposing the following resolution:—"That we, the members of the Joint Technical Instruction Committee, beg respectfully to convey to the Right Rev. Dr. Gregg our hearty congratulations on his unanimous election to the Archbishopric of Dublin; at the same time we desire to express our gratitude for the able and active assistance which he has afforded this Committee at all times, and their sincere regret at his departure." Alderman Upton seconded the resolution, which was passed unanimously.

GENERAL SIR JOHN MAXWELL.

It was stated last night that General Sir John Maxwell was still in a critical condition.

Sir James Ball, Chief Engineer of the Brighton Railway, died suddenly on Thursday night at Forest Row, Sussex. Deceased was aged 54.

FROM "THE TIMES" OF TO-DAY.

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT WITH THE PROPRIETORS OF THE TIMES.)

FRANCE STILL SEEKING A PRESIDENT.

President Deschanel on Thursday handed his resignation to M. Millerand at Rambouillet, telegraphs the Paris Correspondent of The Times. The document in which the President gives up the office entrusted to him only seven months ago is in the nature of a Presidential message to both Houses of Parliament. The resignation was discussed at a Cabinet Council yesterday, and naturally the question of M. Deschanel's successor was also considered. M. Millerand's colleagues made a strong effort to persuade him that it was his duty to accept candidature for the Presidency, but M. Millerand has so far maintained his refusal, overriding the arguments of those who pointed out to him that he possessed the confidence of both Chambers, and was obviously the man best fitted to hold continuity in the foreign policy of France at the present time. If Millerand's view is that as Prime Minister, even though, in the natural course of events, he cannot expect to hold office for ever, he will have greater power than he would have at the Elysee, and it is doubtful whether constitutional changes which would give greater powers to the Presidency would be carried by a majority sufficient to justify such a decision. Nevertheless, in Parliamentary circles it is quite clear that they want M. Millerand. Yesterday he had several visitors of importance, who urged him to accept office. M. Jonnart, however, remains M. Millerand's candidate, and would, it is understood, accept the post if a majority is assured him. Parliament will meet on Tuesday, and the National Assembly will proceed to elect the new President at Versailles on Thursday or Friday.

A CRUCIAL QUESTION.

The Times, commenting in a leading article on the fact that no progress towards agreement was made yesterday at the adjourned conference between the Miners' Executive and Sir Robert Horne, says:—The miners want an advance of wages, and are willing to go into the question of output afterwards. The position of the Government is to make the advance contingent on output. This is the really crucial question, not only for the miners, but for most of our large industries and for our industrial future as a whole. The broad process of change, which has now been going on continuously for some years, is one of rising guaranteed earnings, shortening hours, and slackening effort. It cannot go on indefinitely without causing economic disaster, which is, in fact, already in progress. Works are closing down because it is impossible to cover the cost of production by sales, and unemployment is beginning to make itself seriously felt. The falling output of the mines is a fact which stares us all in the face, and reacts upon us in a hundred ways, and the miners may be perfectly sure that the public will insist that the Government is refusing further advances in wages until it is cleared up; for, as they see it, more wages means less coal. This attitude on the part of consumers has nothing whatever to do with the mine-owners, whose hand is discerned by the miners' leaders behind the Government's offer. There is nothing for the mine-owners, and are quite as ready to curse them as are the miners, or readier. But what they see is the breakdown of the owners have been mostly limited, while the miners have been getting more and more wages on one ground or another, and, pari passu, output has fallen. The miners' leaders deny that it is the fault of the miners, and indignantly repudiate the charge. Well, the public are quite willing to believe them, and to put the blame on the right shoulders; but they want proof. The Government proposes an inquiry, and the Miners' Federation are willing; indeed, eager for one. Then, let it take place. We do not anticipate the result. We are merely pointing out how the whole thing strikes the general public. It is not an impartial battle between miners, owners, and Government, but only feel that somehow they have already suffered a good deal between them, and are faced by the prospect of suffering more. They have some grounds for distrusting the effects of further advances of wages, and they want peace and quiet in order that they may ascertain how they stand.

THE MINERS' CLAIM.

Lord Birkenhead, in a letter to The Times, gives some interesting figures relating to a colliery company in the Forest of Dean, of which, for several years, he has been chairman. He points out the significant fact that the coalfield of the Forest of Dean showed the highest majority for a strike of all the coalfields in Great Britain, and of the colliery employés who recently recorded their votes, only 16 voted against a national strike. The proportion of one employé has been, for the past two years, below the pre-war level, and has (speaking generally) been in inverse ratio to the prevalence of organised unrest, and to the amount of the workers' remuneration. The company's audited accounts for the twelve months ended June 30 last show (inter alia) the following wages:—Wages, £2,086; royalties (at market value), £3,100; shareholders' dividends, £2,250. It will be noticed that the value of the customary gift of coal to the employés alone exceeded the amount of the shareholders' dividends. Any balance over is reserved as far as possible, and is re-marked for necessary development works, and is now being mainly employed in preserving the steam coal collieries of the Company, which is a imminent peril of exhaustion. The men are on friendly terms with the company and its capable manager, and any representations made by their Pit Committee with a view to the introduction of increased comfort or convenience are always sympathetically attended to. If the colliery were closed and the wagons, pumps, cables, and other valuable plant were realised, the proceeds of sale being invested in Government securities, the shareholders would enjoy a substantially larger return upon their capital than they do to-day, and it would be permanent and free from risk of diminution. The chief deterrent to the adoption of this course is that it would deprive the local miners of remunerative employment, but would result in embarrassment to other industries, and serious financial loss to local tradesmen. But for outside interference, there is no reason why employers and employed in the Forest of Dean Coalfield should not be a happy family, and enjoy prosperity unmolested and well for their own sake and the nation's advantage. As it is, when economic laws (except as regards labour) reassert themselves, as they must, the closing of the coalfield and its activities would appear to be inevitable.

ITALIAN FACTORY CONTROL.

The Milan Correspondent of The Times, in a message dated September 17, says:—The Government, after a period of neutrality, during which it allowed the workers to commit all sorts of illegal actions, has imposed upon the manufacturers syndical control. This decision represents an undertaking in favour of the workers, who, now convinced that they will obtain the control they claim, will probably decide to evacuate the works they at present occupy. Owing to this decision the situation presents a new aspect and a new interest. The feared social revolution has probably been averted, but yesterday's event may be the starting point of many social complications. The acuteness of the crisis is now over, and it is hoped, though not yet certain, that the workmen will evacuate the factories they have seized. The fact that the workers demand for control has now theoretically been accepted by the Government leaves the extremists on both sides dissatisfied. Impartial observers, however, are inclined to consider it only as an experiment, and not as an irreparable disaster. From the point of view of immediate political effects it may prove for Italy a safety valve through which much dangerous gas may leak and harmlessly evaporate.

Senator Einaudi, the well-known economist, writing in the Corriere Della Sera, says that the illusion of participation in production may restore the men's pleasure in work. He hopes the experiment may lead to social pacification, but is pessimistic as to the economic results, fearing that the consumers may ultimately suffer.

THE PRINTERS' DISPUTE.

The Manchester Correspondent of The Times telegraphs that the printers' dispute in Manchester and Liverpool, which has caused both cities to be without the ordinary newspapers for the past three weeks, was provisionally settled last night. The terms of settlement were signed by both parties, but they are subject to ratification by members of the Manchester and Liverpool Branches at meetings to be held to-day. An agreed statement was issued announcing that the full terms of the settlement will be published as soon as they have been ratified by the members of the two branches concerned, and work will be resumed immediately the terms have been agreed to by the men.

MR. CHURCHILL'S RETURN.

Mr. Winston Churchill, says The Times, returned to London yesterday. He has been in France since September 2, and in the course of his stay he has had conversations with the French War Minister, M. Lefèvre, with reference to French and British military obligations in various parts of the world.

PUNJAB INCIDENTS.

OFFICIALS CENSURED AND PUNISHED.

The Punjab controversy was finally concluded to-day, says a Simla message dated Friday, by Sir William Vincent, secretary to the Viceroy's Council, laying on the table of the Council a full and lucid statement showing the action taken against officials whose conduct was impugned by the Hunter Commission. The statement was said to be due to the necessity of awaiting the report of the debate in the House of Commons and of publishing local Government whose officers were concerned. Of police officers whose apathy had failed to prevent the mob from committing murder and arson at Amritsar, the Superintendent, Ahmed Jan, has been degraded on reduced pension, and Inspector Ashraf Khan has been reduced in rank; while Lala Harkishen Lal, Acting Deputy Commissioner at Gujranwalla, who refused permission to fire on the mob, has since been retired. Of European officials concerned, Lieut.-Colonel O'Brien and Messrs. Marsden and Jacob, all members of the Punjab Commission, have been informed by the local Government that the Government of India strongly disapproves the particular actions criticised, which are declared to have been injudicious and improper. Messrs. Kitchin and Thompson, also members of the Punjab Commission, have been told that their failure to retain control over the military commander at Amritsar, and to remain in close touch with him during the unfortunate events, was regrettable. Mr. Bosworth Smith's request to remain on active duty until 1921 has been granted, and strong disapproval of the Government of the actions criticised by the Hunter Committee has been conveyed to him. In the case of Mr. Penhearrow, who whipped a witness, the local Government has been asked if disciplinary action, as opposed to mere censure, cannot be employed. Of the military officers, in the case of General Dyer, no further action is possible, but in the cases of General Campbell, Capt. Doveton, and Col. Macrae, the Commander-in-Chief proposes to convey his strong disapproval of the censuring order, the unusual punishments, and the whipping of schoolboys, which were adversely criticised. Of the second military officer, Lieut.-Colonel Frank Johnston, a Territorial, has since been demobilised, and the military authorities propose no action. In the case of General Beynon, Major Carberry, and Lieutenant Dodkins, considering the extreme difficulties of their position owing to the absence of precedent for employing the Royal Air Force in such circumstances the military authorities think that no blame attaches. In the cases of the Government has given assistance to dependents of needy persons killed at the Jallianwallahagh, the largest amount being £50 and the smallest £20. The fine of the Amritsar inhabitants has been met by private generosity, while any person outside the city has been relieved by a grant of £5,000 placed at the disposal of the local authorities by the Viceroy. The total amount paid as relief in the case of European sufferers was £48,000. Compensation amounting to £100,000 has so far been paid to owners of articles impressed in the Punjab during the disturbances.

WEXFORD MAGISTRATES AND HOME RULE.

SIR HAMAR GREENWOOD AND IRISH CO-OPERATION.

Sir Hamar Greenwood, Chief Secretary for Ireland, in a letter to Mr. J. J. Roche, J.P., Coroner for South Wexford, who acted as secretary to the recent meeting of Wexford magistrates, acknowledged the resolution passed on the occasion calling for self-government for Ireland, and stated:—"I note that the resolution deplores the present state of the country, and advocates self-government for Ireland as the only path to the restoration of good-will. It is, I can assure you, the desire of the Government to grant the fullest possible measure of self-government to Ireland, and the Government welcomes the views of all representative bodies who are desirous of arriving at a settlement of the present unhappy state of affairs. The resolution of the County Wexford magistrates is of importance, as expressing the considered views of a body that is interested, in an exceptional degree, in the preservation of goodwill, and I shall take an early opportunity of bringing it to the notice of the Prime Minister."

SHOCKING SCOTTISH TRAGEDY.

MOTHER AND SON MURDERED.

A terrible tragedy occurred yesterday at Grange House, near the hamlet of Culroy, about six miles from Ayr, the residence of Mr. Henry Percy Sterndale McMikin, the proprietor of the estate of Grange. The police on arrival found Mrs. Sterndale McMikin and her son dead in the boy's bedroom, and Mr. Sterndale McMikin suffering from deep gashes on the left side of the neck, evidently inflicted with a razor. The bedroom where the bodies of the mother and son were found, covered over with a sheet, presented a shocking spectacle, the walls being besprattered with blood and brains. The unfortunate woman's head had been blown off, and her dead son also was hardly recognisable. The police took possession of a double-barrelled sporting gun. They removed Mr. Sterndale McMikin to Ayr, where a doctor stitched his wounds.

The dead son, who would have celebrated his fifteenth birthday to-day, was returning to school at Carnforth this week-end. There were indications that he and his mother were engaged in packing the boy's trunks. No one other inmate of the house was an old female servant, who rushed from the house for assistance.

Mr. Sterndale McMikin, who is 58, has held the estate for some 20 years. Before that he was a tea planter in India. His wife, who was 55, was the daughter of a Calcutta gentleman. They have a married daughter residing in India. McMikin's wounds are serious, but not dangerous.

SINN FEIN PRISONERS DEPORTED.

Our Queenstown Correspondent states:—H.M. sloop Badminton left here yesterday afternoon for an English port, having on board, it is stated, twenty-seven Sinn Fein prisoners. Among them, it appears, are the young men tried by courtmartial during the week at Cork Barracks, and also a number of other young men arrested in various parts of Munster who were brought to Cork.

EX-POLICEMAN AS STOKER IN ASYLUM.

Dr. Dillon, Acting Resident Medical Superintendent of the Mullingar District Lunatic Asylum, informed the Committee that a policeman from Moate, who had resigned, had been appointed, and was working in the Asylum as stoker.

THE WALL STREET EXPLOSION.

BOMBS AND T.N.T. USED.

PRECAUTIONARY MEASURES IN OTHER TOWNS.

Telegraphing from New York at midnight on Thursday, Reuter's Correspondent says:—

The deaths from the explosion in Wall street number 29, of whom three were women; and 200 were wounded—some seriously. The material damage is estimated at a million dollars. The police, fire, and explosive experts are absolutely of opinion that the explosion was due to bombs loaded with T.N.T. powder and iron slugs, placed by the "Reds." The theory that explosives in a van detonated during a collision is entirely abandoned, and the van that eyewitnesses saw is believed to have contained bombs, with time fuses, set to explode. The men in charge of the van halted at the kerb, left the vehicle there, and sought safety before the explosion. The sides of adjacent buildings were pitted by missiles, as if there had been a machine-gun attack.

What seems to indicate that a radical attack of some kind was imminent is that a letter was sent on Wednesday morning to Lieutenant Arnald, at the French High Commission offices, several blocks distant from the scene of the explosion, in which the writer stated that a catastrophe would occur in Wall street about half-past 2 o'clock. He suggested that the Commission should vacate the offices by 2 o'clock, so that the lives of the staff might be saved. The letter intimated that some persons had grievances, and desired revenge.

Mr. George Keichledge, a broker, received a post-card dated Toronto, September 14, saying:—"Get out of Wall street when the gong strikes three on Wednesday."

A telegram dated Friday says:—The death-roll in the explosion now totals 33.

The Fire Department reported this morning to Mr. Hylan, the Mayor of New York, that the explosion was evidently caused by a bomb.

Officials investigating the explosion state that it apparently occurred in a horse-drawn, covered wagon. The theory that the explosion was probably caused by a collision between an automobile and a wagon laden with dynamite has been finally discarded, as only two firms are licensed to convey explosives through the streets of New York, and all their wagons and trucks have been accounted for.

As a result of yesterday's bomb explosion, the financial centres in all the American big cities, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, are veritable armed camps to-day, every bank and public office being heavily picketed with police and soldiers, while the private homes of millionaires are also being closely guarded.

FRENCH PRESIDENCY.

M. DESCHANEL'S ILLNESS.

ATTITUDE OF M. MILLERAND.

The Cabinet, says a Reuter's Paris telegram, has decided to summon Parliament for the 22nd instant, in order to communicate the resignation of M. Deschanel.

M. Millerand is favourite for the Presidency.

M. Millerand informed the Cabinet on Friday morning that M. Deschanel insisted upon the immediate acceptance of his resignation. It is understood that, being pressed by his colleagues to stand for the Presidency in succession to M. Deschanel, M. Millerand gave some imperative reasons that make it essential for him to decline such a course, adding that he would continue to carry on the work he had undertaken as head of the Cabinet. M. Millerand has already made a statement to the Cabinet on the Aix-Lausanne interviews.

M. Leon Bourgeois entertained at luncheon to-day M. Millerand, Premier; M. Steeg, Minister of the Interior, and M. Raoul Peret, President of the Chamber of Deputies.

Interviewed after the Luncheon, M. Steeg stated that the Congress of both Houses of Parliament would probably be convoked on Thursday next, September 23, and that the message of the new President of the Republic would be read in the Chamber and the Senate at the following sittings. M. Millerand's decision, he added, was considered inconvenience to the business community.

Telegraphing later our Correspondent states that the mails seized were returned at night. The letters appeared to have been examined, and were re-closed with a Government stamp.

Our Limerick Correspondent states:—A company of military, in charge of an officer, were on duty at the Limerick Railway Station in the early morning yesterday, awaiting the arrival of the goods train carrying the mails from Dublin and other centres. On the train drawing up at the terminus, a portion of the military proceeded to the mail carriage, and, the officer showing his warrant to take over possession of the letters and correspondence, the mail bags were transferred to vans, and conveyed, under strong military escort, to the New Barracks. It was stated that all the letters and correspondence were to be examined and censored. They were kept at the barracks all day, and there was, accordingly, no delivery of the morning's mail in the city, to the disappointment of business people. The mails which came by the Dublin-Killarney express, and arrived at half-past two yesterday, were not interfered with, and were delivered later in the evening.

MESOPOTAMIA.

TRIBES WITHDRAWING TO THEIR HOMES.

A War Office communiqué reports that in Mesopotamia a general improvement has been noticeable in the demeanour of the tribes. There has been no spread of unrest, and in the disaffected areas, with the exception of Samawa and in a few isolated cases, the tribesmen appear to have withdrawn largely to their homes. Samawah was recently bombed by the Acting Deputy Commissioner at Gujranwalla, who refused permission to fire on the mob, has since been retired. Of European officials concerned, Lieut.-Colonel O'Brien and Messrs. Marsden and Jacob, all members of the Punjab Commission, have been informed by the local Government that the Government of India strongly disapproves the particular actions criticised, which are declared to have been injudicious and improper. Messrs. Kitchin and Thompson, also members of the Punjab Commission, have been told that their failure to retain control over the military commander at Amritsar, and to remain in close touch with him during the unfortunate events, was regrettable. Mr. Bosworth Smith's request to remain on active duty until 1921 has been granted, and strong disapproval of the Government of the actions criticised by the Hunter Committee has been conveyed to him. In the case of Mr. Penhearrow, who whipped a witness, the local Government has been asked if disciplinary action, as opposed to mere censure, cannot be employed. Of the military officers, in the case of General Dyer, no further action is possible, but in the cases of General Campbell, Capt. Doveton, and Col. Macrae, the Commander-in-Chief proposes to convey his strong disapproval of the censuring order, the unusual punishments, and the whipping of schoolboys, which were adversely criticised. Of the second military officer, Lieut.-Colonel Frank Johnston, a Territorial, has since been demobilised, and the military authorities propose no action. In the case of General Beynon, Major Carberry, and Lieutenant Dodkins, considering the extreme difficulties of their position owing to the absence of precedent for employing the Royal Air Force in such circumstances the military authorities think that no blame attaches. In the cases of the Government has given assistance to dependents of needy persons killed at the Jallianwallahagh, the largest amount being £50 and the smallest £20. The fine of the Amritsar inhabitants has been met by private generosity, while any person outside the city has been relieved by a grant of £5,000 placed at the disposal of the local authorities by the Viceroy. The total amount paid as relief in the case of European sufferers was £48,000. Compensation amounting to £100,000 has so far been paid to owners of articles impressed in the Punjab during the disturbances.

INCREASES OF PENSIONS.

The London Gazette of last night gives the Treasury Regulations under Section 4 of the Pensions (Increase) Act, 1920, the rules applying to pensions, &c., which, on August 16th, 1920, were in receipt of pensions under different Acts, and particularly under the National School Teachers (Ireland) Act, 1879, and under the enactments relating to the pay and pensions of the R.I.C. and the D.M.P. The following statutory conditions must be fulfilled:—

The pensioner must reside in the British Islands.

The pensioner must have attained the age of sixty years, or have retired on account of physical or mental infirmity; or, in the case of a pensioner who is a widow, and is in receipt of a pension payable in respect of the services of her deceased husband, must have attained the age of forty years.

The pensioner must satisfy the pension authority that his means, including his pension, are less than £150 a year if unmarried, or £200 a year if married.

An application for an increase of pension under the Pensions (Increase) Act, 1920, shall be made to the Government department through whom the original pension is payable. An application in the case of a pensioner who fulfils the statutory conditions at the date of the making of these rules should be made as soon as practicable.

MAGISTRATE LOCKED OUT.

INCIDENT AT NEWBRIDGE.

Instructions having been given at the monthly meeting of the Newbridge Town Commissioners that the Town Hall, where the courts have been held for the past forty years, be no longer allowed to be used by the magistrates as a petty sessions court, the doors were found to be locked when Major Thackeray, R.M., and Mr. Clinton, Clerk of Petty Sessions, arrived yesterday morning. The proceedings were adjourned.

THE COAL OUTLOOK.

YESTERDAY'S CONFERENCE.

MR. SMILLIE AND THE WAGES ADVANCE.

OPTIMISM IN OFFICIAL CIRCLES.

The conference between the miners' leaders and Sir Robert Horne was continued yesterday at the Board of Trade, and adjourned till Monday.

It is understood that the miners' insisted that their claim for a two-shilling increase should come before anything else.

Notwithstanding the attitude taken up by Mr. Smillie, official circles are optimistic, and believe that, although the strike danger is not past, a settlement will be reached without recourse to extreme measures.

After the negotiations yesterday afternoon between the miners' delegates and Sir Robert Horne, when the leaders announced their decision to make the consideration of the Government's terms contingent on the granting of the two shillings advance, Sir Robert Horne waited upon the Prime Minister at 10 Downing street. Mr. Bonar Law also was called in to confer with his two colleagues.

Subsequently Mr. Lloyd George left for the week-end in the country. He is expected back in London on Monday.

Despite the attitude of the miners at yesterday's conference, official optimism continues, and, although the strike danger is not yet over, considerable confidence is felt that a settlement will be arrived at without recourse to extreme measures.

After leaving the Board of Trade offices the miners' Executive held a conference extending over an hour at their London headquarters. The proceedings were private. Later the members left for the country, and it is understood they will consult the miners in the various districts during the week-end on the latest developments in the situation.

Mr. Straker, Secretary of the Northumberland Miners' Federation, replying to a question regarding yesterday's proceedings, said—"We have adjourned over the week-end in order to consider the question individually. It is well that we should have this opportunity of thinking matters over. Sir Robert Horne is anxious that we should do this, and meet him again on Monday."

OFFICIAL REPORT OF THE CONFERENCE.

The official report of the proceedings was issued yesterday afternoon. The main points are:—

Sir Robert Horne (President of the Board of Trade), in opening the proceedings, said—An entirely new item of thought was put before us what you said yesterday. You have said, through the mouth of Mr. Smillie and of Mr. Hodges, that you are much concerned about the output of coal in this country, and that you are eager to see it increased. Any increased output would necessarily entail a review of the whole question. That is a new one, an argument to a totally different view of any wages claim which is based upon output.

You say to me: "Well, we will urge this increased output upon all our people, but we want a wage advance now." Frankly, it is not very easy to work out on that blunt supposition. Output, in spite of all the efforts which we all made earlier this year as to the desirability of increased production, has not really increased, and we are just where we were before, or, perhaps, are worse off than we were at that time. That is not very encouraging in the way of giving an advance now and looking for an output later. An increased output would justify increased earnings. We are aware just now of certain returns of output. My idea is that for all the tons you get above that basis it should be made more remunerative. There would be a direct incentive, not merely upon his present rate of earnings, but something bigger than his present rate. A big mess of pottage you get a bigger tonnage. The coal consumers' interests, I think, would be looked after by the reduction in costs that you would effect. I am not professing to be giving to-night to the miners a scheme which is worked out in detail at all. I am only putting before you an idea. There is a clear way of getting a certainty of an increased output. There is a possibility of it. A clear way of getting a certainty of an increased wage if you believe that these outputs can be surmounted. I ask you, gentlemen, to kindly apply your minds to some such theory as that.

MR. SMILLIE.

The points of Mr. Smillie's reply were:—Yesterday we had pressed to make claim that the two points were indivisible, and stood together. Now your suggestion is that we should give up the question of wages, and you are prepared to lead us to believe that what we are actually quarrelling about is the question of increase in output. It is nothing of the kind. That is subsidiary. We are not out for any of increase in wages, and a question of the price of coal.

We cannot say whether output can be increased or not until we know what is going to decrease.

I, personally, believe that output can be increased but it could only be increased by the goodwill of the owners of the mines of this country and of the workers. You cannot claim put before you we was a claim for an increase of wages and reduction in the price of domestic coal. You have declined to entertain either.

When the Executive Committee of the Miners' Federation comes before our Conference next Tuesday we expect that we will be asked to:—Do the Executive believe that the miners are entitled to the increase in wages which was asked for, or, in the event of the Conference not considering the increased cost of living, and so on? We will say "Yes." Is there a sufficient surplus in the coal trade at the present time, and with the present output, to justify that advance being paid from the coal trade? Our answer would be "Yes."

Then the third question would be—"And do you come here to advise us, in view of that, that we are to set up a Board to try and increase the output of coal in order that at some time, if we succeed, the output will be such as to be entitled to an increase in wages?" Now, we are not going back to the Conference to say anything of the kind.

If the advance is not to be conceded, Sir Robert, our other proposals need not be considered. He honestly desire to endeavour to increase the output, for the reasons which I have stated, but we cannot say that that increase in the expectation or hope that the miners and mine-owners are going to meet together to consider how they can raise the output in order that there may be an increase in wages. Why should we begin to increase output in order to increase wages, when you are already getting money to pay that increase in wages?

In the course of the discussion the President said that he was afraid that Mr. Smillie was rather evading the issue. He was trying, with fairness to everybody, and to the advantage of the country at large and the prosperity of the coal trade, to see if there could not arrive at a satisfactory settlement of the wages issue.

Mr. Hodges declared that Sir Robert wished for carefulness in regard to the keeping of arms and ammunition, the official report says. The current them being seized the military took charge of them. There was no official statement on the subject available this morning.

GALWAY CIVILIAN FATALLY SHOT.

ROAD WORKER'S EXCITING EXPERIENCE.

An attack on two civilians on Thursday evening is reported from Oranmore. From enquiries made, it appears that Joseph Athy, Patrick Burke, Thomas Kelly, and Joseph Rourke left work on the road at Oranmore about five o'clock, and were proceeding home in a cart to Maree when they were fired at from behind a hedge on the roadside. As the result of the occurrence took place less than a quarter of a mile from Oranmore. The first shot was, it is stated, fired from a gun, and some of the pellets lodged in Athy's head. He drove on, and a bullet was fired, which struck him on the thigh bone, and passed upwards underneath the skin, lodging in his abdomen. The bullet struck Patrick Burke in the knee, which is shattered.

The injured men were removed to St. Bride's Home, Galway, where Athy succumbed to his wounds yesterday afternoon. Burke is suffering from a shattered knee and a bullet wound in the knee.

THE LORD MAYOR OF CORK.

The bulletin issued from Brixton Prison yesterday morning stated that the Lord Mayor of Cork had a few hours' sleep during the night, but was still extremely weak.

On leaving the prison at 6 o'clock last evening, after spending the afternoon with her husband, Mrs. MacSwiney said that there had been no change in the condition of Alderman MacSwiney during the afternoon.

Miss M. MacSwiney, who left the prison at 8.30 p.m., informed the Press representatives that there was still no change in the Lord Mayor's condition.

Father Dominic left the prison at 10 p.m., and he said that the Lord Mayor was very low, and his condition was worse than on Thursday. He was still conscious, but suffered from severe headache. He was in brighter spirits, however, and rumours circulated with regard to the Lord Mayor's contemplated removal from the prison or of a variation of his treatment.

THE CORK PRISONERS.

Our Reporter telegraphed from Cork last night:—

Mr. Philip Harold Barry, in a statement to-day to the Press correspondents, said that by the mid-day post on Thursday, Mr. Mooney, solicitor, and himself, received a letter from Captain Gover, Governor of Cork Detention Barracks, to the effect that the Government had directed that any representations they might wish to make on behalf of John Power should be submitted in writing, but that in the case of Fitzgerald, on hunger-strike, it was a matter for the Government, and that no inquiry would be held by the military without instructions from the Government.

Feore's was the case in which a witness was present on Tuesday to prove his (Feore's) absolute innocence, even though he had been convicted by court-martial, but the admission of his evidence was then refused, on the ground that there was no authority to inquire into his case.

A sworn statement, Mr. Barry proceeded, had been made by the witness above referred to, and this statement was sent to Captain Gover in reply to his letter, although it had been decided by him (Mr. Barry) and his friends that it was useless to proceed further.

Feore, it will be recalled, was one of the prisoners arrested with Sean Hennessy in connection with an attack upon military lorries at Ballingeary.

No change is reported in the condition of the prisoners in Cork Jail.

MILITARY AND THE MAILS.

NEW DEVELOPMENT.

About three o'clock yesterday morning a large force of military surrounded Kingsbridge Railway Station. On the arrival of the night mail train from the South at 3.55 a.m. they took possession of the mail bags, which numbered about one hundred. The bags were removed to motor lorries which were waiting outside. While the bags were being transferred nobody was allowed to enter the station, and those leaving were closely questioned. The staff was not interfered with. The Post Office vans were not permitted to go in on the platform, and returned empty to the Rotunda Rink Post Office. The mail bags were taken to a military barracks.

Our Cork Correspondent states:—There was a remarkable development of the military's activities at three o'clock yesterday morning in Cork. On the arrival of the train from Dublin with a heavy mail from cross-Channel and other centres, a military party entered the sorting vans, and, removing all the bags containing letters, conveyed them to the military barracks, presumably for examination and discovery of Sinn Fein correspondence. The seizure, which will cause a delay of 24 hours in the delivery of the mails, has caused considerable inconvenience to the business community.

Telegraphing later our Correspondent states that the mails seized were returned at night. The letters appeared to have been examined, and were re-closed with a Government stamp.

Our Limerick Correspondent states:—A company of military, in charge of an officer, were on duty at the Limerick Railway Station in the early morning yesterday, awaiting the arrival of the goods train carrying the mails from Dublin and other centres. On the train drawing up at the terminus, a portion of the military proceeded to the mail carriage, and, the officer showing his warrant to take over possession of the letters and correspondence, the mail bags were transferred to vans, and conveyed, under strong military escort, to the New Barracks. It was stated that all the letters and correspondence were to be examined and censored. They were kept at the barracks all day, and there was, accordingly, no delivery of the morning's mail in the city, to the disappointment of business people. The mails which came by the Dublin-Killarney express, and arrived at half-past two yesterday, were not interfered with, and were delivered later in the evening.

MILITARY AND DUBLIN GUNSMITHS.

PRECAUTIONS AGAINST CIVILIAN RAIDS.

Following the raid on the Dublin branch of the Junior Army and Navy Stores on Thursday night, when ammunition was taken by armed raiders in civilian garb, parties of military visited the premises of gunsmiths in the city yesterday, and removed arms and ammunition. The premises visited included those of Mrs. Gallagher, Crampton Court; Messrs. Kavanagh and Sons, Dame street; Messrs. Henshaws, Christchurch place, and Mr. Keegan, Parliament street.

It is understood that all the gunsmiths in the city had received notice indicating the necessity for carefulness in regard to the keeping of arms and ammunition, and that the visits paid to the different them being seized the military took charge of them. There was no official statement on the subject available this morning.

DUBLIN "CURFEW" ARRESTS.

Four persons were arrested in Dublin this morning under the "Curfew" regulations.

COURTS-MARTIAL TRIALS.

SENTENCES AND ACQUITTALS.

The General Officer Commanding-in-Chief forwards the following results of district courts-martial recently held for the trial of the undermentioned civilians:—

Michael McNeill, Carbury, Co. Kildare, civilian, was tried under Regulations 27 and 42, D.R.R., by a district courtmartial held at Dublin on 7th September, 1920. The charges preferred against the accused was that he had imprisoned, acting in concert with other unknown men, against his will, and without lawful authority, Mr. P. Collins. Mr. James Geoghegan, barrister, appeared for Mr. McNeill.

Accused was found not guilty and released.

Richard Mangan, Edenderry, King's County, civilian, was tried under Regulations 27 and 42, D.R.R., by a district courtmartial held in Dublin on 7th September, 1920. The charge preferred against the accused was that he had imprisoned a Mr. P. Collins against his will and without lawful authority. Mr. James Geoghegan, barrister, appeared on behalf of Mr. Mangan.

The finding of the court amounting to a verdict of not guilty, the accused was released.

Daniel Smith, of 45 Sultan street, Belfast, civilian, was charged under Regulation 9 A.A., D.R.R., before a district courtmartial which assembled at Victoria Barracks, Belfast, on the 10th September, 1920. The evidence showed that on 5th September, 1920, the accused, on being searched by the R.I.C. at Bruree, Co. Limerick, was found to be in possession of a loaded revolver and 21 rounds of revolver ammunition.

The accused, who refused to recognise the court, was found guilty and sentenced to two years' impris

MEDIÆVAL EUROPE.

Professor Thorndike possesses historic knowledge and the imagination which enhances it so enormously. His aim is distinctly ambitious, for he essays the task of writing an account not only of the development of the State system of mediæval Europe, but also of its civilisation. It is clear that he must be able to disentangle the underlying principles from the mass of detail in which they are embedded. This he does with conspicuous success. What is his leading thread, his main idea? Is it, as Lord Bryce put it in his brilliant essay, the Holy Roman Empire? Professor Thorndike has profited by the masterly work of Lord Bryce, but he sees that the Holy Roman Empire is not the main thread. In a sense Lord Bryce is still right, for in mediæval times, strange as it may seem, there was almost more unity, more sense of brotherhood, than there is to-day. The knight regarded all knights as of the same class as himself. At the same time Professor Thorndike is surely right in thinking that local division, not national or racial consciousness, is the point to furnish the outstanding clue to the development of events. There was one Roman Empire on paper, but in reality there were dozens of cities, of principalities, and of nascent kingdoms. We think that the author is quite justified in running against the premature introduction of the conception of nationality into mediæval affairs. Within a century this process he unfolds his way of looking at the course of events not only in action, but also in thought, with the result that he has produced a valuable book. The Church, quite as much as the State, fills the picture. There are maps, plans, and really fine illustrations.

Professor Thorndike can present his views in excellent English. Take the following passage on the influence of geographical discovery: "Even more, perhaps, than the Crusades the voyages of discovery aroused the spirit of adventure and represented energy and enterprise. The Atlantic was now destined to replace the Mediterranean as the chief waterway of Europe, and the States bordering on it rose successively to national prominence and took the lead as maritime Powers—first Portugal and Spain, then the Dutch and English. These changes came about gradually and were largely in the future, but they give us further reason for closing our survey of the Middle Ages about the year 1500. . . . The voyage of Columbus is not only one of the boundary stones between the Middle Ages and the modern times; it also reminds us that American history opens as mediæval closes."

"Mediæval Europe." By Lynn Thorndike, Ph.D., Associate Professor of History in Western Reserve University. London: Harrap.

A DRAMA OF MONARCHY.

There are many methods of approaching the history of the French Revolution; In his able book Mr. Farrer approaches it from the point of view of the struggle for the monarchy. There is much to be said for this plan, and the author employs his wide knowledge to marked advantage. He begins with the year 1793, and regards the interval to the Peace of Amiens as the first act in the drama. In this act there are two particularly clear scenes of the Quiberon year, 1795, and the Egyptian year, 1798. Darwin once wrote a curious account of the stages in the fertilisation of a particular species of plant. There is, he argues, a clear connection between the clover of our fields and the existence of cats. Bumble-bees are necessary in order to enable red clover to produce seed. Field-mice are the foes of bumble-bees, and destroy their nests under the ground. Cats are the enemies of field-mice. If it were not for cats, there would be too many field-mice, too few bumble-bees, and hardly any red clover. . . .

There is scarcely a story more fitted for all students than Darwin's. Mr. Farrer is familiar with its spirit. He regards the second and final act in the drama as from 1802—when there are fresh war rumblings—to 1815, when there is the Peace of Vienna. In this second act there are notable scenes, and none, perhaps, more notable than those describing the magnificent efforts of William Pitt the Younger. He went as unwillingly to war with France in 1793 as we went to war with Germany in 1914. We waged war for twenty-two years, and this war against Napoleon Mr. Farrer sets in its true background. He rings down the curtain on the advent of Louis XVIII. There was, Talleyrand remarked, nothing changed in France; there was only one Frenchman the more.

THE NEW RENT ACT.

The fact that the Increase of Rent Act, 1920, has put very many tenancies of houses on an entirely new basis—introducing a kind of "fixity of tenure" that in all human probability will never altogether vanish—makes the Act of paramount importance not only to practising lawyers, but even more so to a very large class of landlords and tenants. The Act deals, of course, also with the raising of the rate of mortgage interest; but its provisions as to increasing rents and recovery of possession are the more important and far more likely to cause heartburnings on one side or the other. The present Act, which is not due to expire till June 23rd, 1923, wipes out the former "war" statutes, and substitutes a more or less complete code for the guidance of landlord and tenant, mortgagor and mortgagee.

At first blush, and especially to the lay mind, the statute is not a model of lucidity. In fact, it has been severely criticised as an example of what the art of the Parliamentary draughtsman should strive to avoid. But in the excellent introductory chapters to the handbook before us the authors have made praiseworthy efforts, with considerable success, to be a lamp unto the feet of the anxious searcher after truth, be he landlord, tenant, or mere legal practitioner. There have been difficulties in their way. In elucidating what is almost entirely new law the authors naturally derive but meagre assistance from decided cases; and, what is more, the actual text of the Act completely loses sight of some problems that may become important. These problems are attacked clearly and comprehensively, and though, of course, the opinions of Messrs. Meredith and Hughes are not of binding force, they at least are entitled to the respect due to the opinions of sound lawyers, and will prove of the greatest value to those, less learned, who grope blindly in the fog of section, sub-section, and proviso. Almost everyone is vitally interested in the statute from one point or another; and no one, whether landlord or tenant or legal practitioner, could find a better guide through its mazes than this volume.

FRANCE AND THE TREATY.

It is perfectly evident that in this illuminating book on the Peace of Versailles M. Lévy cannot get away from the obsession of Germany. Just now we are inclined to feel sorry for the Germans as we witness the overthrow of what was a mighty nation. In a sense it is a feeling that does us honour. At the same time as we read the chapter in which M. Lévy describes the doings of the Boche in North-East France, we came to share his point of view. In 1870-71 the author's country was defeated. There was an attempt to renew the attack when Bismarck, in 1875, plotted another outbreak of the war—an attempt which was frustrated by Queen Victoria and by the Tsar. A leading Minister, M. Delcassé, was dismissed at the instigation of the ex-Kaiser. In 1908 and in 1911 Germany threatened war with France, and the crisis in the former year was one of the most severe through which France has ever gone.

The truth is that since the Franco-German War France lived in a constant state of apprehension, and this apprehension is powerfully set forth by the author; indeed, it colours all his statements. The notorious book of Mr. Keynes is subjected to a careful examination, and we think that the author establishes point after point against it. It is true, as the Cambridge economist pleads, that Germany must be left the means to "carry on"—otherwise we can not extract any indemnity from her. It does not seem to occur to him that France also must "carry on," that she must have coal from Germany, as the Germans have rendered many of her coal-mines useless for a generation at least, and that she must have raw stuffs for the lands that have been so barbarously ravaged. We think that the first chapter, which elaborately examines the figures in Mr. Keynes's book, is one of the most valuable.

THE IDEAS OF MARX.

The more one comes into contact with what are called the working classes the more one sees that they are filled with the ideas of Karl Marx. True, few of them have read his "Das Kapital," but the air they breathe is filled with it. Dr. J. W. Scott, therefore, performs a signal service when he examines the foundation of the system of Marx. His law of value amounts to the propos.ition that labour is the great creator of value, that the capitalist takes the large share in value, and that inevitably the present plan is inherently unjust. Now, the author subjects this conception to a searching analysis, and finds it unsound from top to bottom. This unsoundness he exposes, not by abuse, but by patient argument. Dr. Scott points out that, under the Marxian law of value, in the end and as a rule, the value of a thing will be high if the labour spent on it is great, and low if the labour is little. This, of course, is the exact reverse of the truth. Take any article in ordinary use. For the most part it is made by the machine, and all that labour does is superintend the machine. The whole of Dr. Scott's unpretentious book is deserving of careful examination.

THE ETHICS OF CHRISTIANITY.

This volume was accepted as a thesis for the M.A. Degree of the Queen's University, Belfast. The study of Christian ethics is of great importance to those ministers who desire to grasp the fundamental causes underlying the problems of the day, and Mr. E. W. Young earns our gratitude for his clear and scholarly exposition. He explains that religion is the true relationship of the human soul to God, while philosophical ethics are concerned only with moral concepts; but although there is this essential difference between religion and ethics, there is no antagonism between the two. True Christian ethics, based on a belief in and love of Christ as Master and Lord, also embrace all the higher social virtues. The principles put forward are wholly constructive, and the book, with its comprehensive bibliography, cannot fail to awaken a wider interest in this subject.

THE SOMME BATTLEFIELD.

The Michelin Tyre Company has issued a compact, but comprehensive, history of, and guide to, the Somme battlefield. The first section explains the theory, method, and tactics employed by the Allied forces in preparing for the Somme offensive of 1916. It was the brilliant execution of those plans that gave us the moral on which the ultimate victory, achieved in 1918, was founded. The book describes the attacks, counter-attacks, eventual consolidation of the ground gained, and the settling down to fight the long battle of attrition which was won by Allied pluck and endurance. The Guide suggests two separate one-day tours from Amiens to Albert, Thiepval, Bapaume, and the valley of the Somme. It gives a general description of the pre-war conditions of the various towns and villages, with notes on the war histories and an indication of the features most interesting to tourists. The book is well printed on good paper, and is illustrated with a number of photographic reproductions and sketch maps.

GREAT POSSESSIONS.

"Great Possessions," by the well-known author of "Adventures in Contentment" and other books, is, like them, in praise of the simple life and natural human joys. It bears witness—like many other books of a similar character which come from America—to a healthy reaction from the hustle and money-making passion so prevalent in that great country. Its chapters are little sketches of rural folk, done with full sympathy with what is lovable, and even Blackpool or the Isle of Man hardly could silence their gentle appeal.

RECENT FICTION.

The story of a struggle is bound to stimulate the interest of humanity at large, and Carey Williams's struggle in New York for recognition as a first-class illustrator is a grim one. The reader will be forced to the conclusion that American art editors, as a whole, are the least discriminating and the rudest of men. Carey's chance discovery of a novel method in his work leads to success of a kind and wins him a facile popularity that obviates the necessity for hard work. In his microscopic study of the hero's dogged working days and tussles with omnipotent magazine men the author shows his pleasing side, but success makes of him an unmitigated boundder. Mr. Norris does not spare him at this stage of his career, but a timely downfall is the saving of him. Strangely enough, this clever writer is not quite happy in his handling of situations wherein the woman plays the leading part.

Miss Kaye-Smith, in interpreting the heart of Sussex through the primitive emotions of farming-people, is at her best. She has done nothing better than her delineation of Robert Fuller's character, moulded and warped by his prevailing passions—religion and love for Hannah Iden, the lawless gipsy girl. Thus young Fuller's mind is obsessed, though he may be carousing in the bar of the "Royal George," or spending quiet home evenings with Mabel, the confectioner's "ladylike" daughter, whom he marries after tantalising Hannah is irretrievably lost to him. Robert, when, in his own jargon, he has "got salvation," turns itinerant preacher, and it may be that, if Mabel's soul had been ever so little bigger, happiness would have dawned for them both. But she is bound by her limitations, and Robert comes out worsted in the battle of life that he is failed to fight alone.

A deliciously real child is one of the central figures in Miss Kelston's comedy, and has much to do with its success. Briony is the motherless charge and responsibility of her father, a popular novelist. Miss Darling, a youthful governess, and her dour Scotch nurse, Nanny—until Colenso comes upon the scene, presumably to reduce her to order. Colenso, however, has known Mr. Jessop, from a sentimental standpoint, in the long ago, and we find that her mission seems rather to foster in him certain admirable qualities that he suspects of rusting beneath the smug mask of the celebrity. . . . It is to the regeneration of this "spoilt child of forty-five," then, that Miss Colenso Bishop devotes her time and ingenuity, aided by the terse advice, sent by telegraphic wire, of "Bertha" in the Background. Here Miss Kelston has a further opportunity for farce, and an amusing spy-hunt, organised by the domestic staff, results.

In this novel a fearless bachelor girl, who is determined to live an unconventional life, and a weird "green woman" of the vampire order, who dabbles in anarchistic plots, are the protagonists. The story opens well, and we are interested in the affairs of Colonel Hugh Bentley, at a loose end at the finish of the war, with a grudge against the military authorities, and a rooted objection to settling down in the wood trade, like his fellow-officers him. The last three chapters, however, where in the plot purports to be unravelled, are obscure and unconvincing, and we confess that the underlying purpose of the book baffles us.

CLOGHER DIOCESAN SYNOD.

INCREASED CLERICAL INCOMES.

REVISED SUPPLEMENTAL FINANCIAL SCHEME.

A special meeting of the Clogher Diocesan Synod was held in the Town Hall, Clones, yesterday, for the purpose of considering a supplemental scheme proposed by the Diocesan Council of the diocese for the augmentation of the incomes of the clergy in the various parishes. The Right Rev. Dr. Day, bishop of the diocese, presided, and there was a good attendances of both lay and clerical members.

The President nominated Mr. E. M. Archdale, M.P., as his assessor.

The President said that the subject they had to consider that day was a supplementary diocesan financial scheme to come into operation and in addition to, and not in substitution of, their present financial scheme. One reason why it was most desirable to decide on the adoption of the scheme without delay was the expectation that the recommendations might come into operation before the end of the year, so that the clergy might receive the addition to their stipends for the quarter ending 31st December next, payable on 1st January, 1921. The fundamental principle of the scheme was that every parish in the diocese would be asked to contribute half as much again as hitherto towards increasing by that proportion the present stipend of the clergy, the diocese endeavouring also to contribute an addition of one-half to that contributed by the parishes, as it did in the present scheme. For instance, a parish which had at present a stipend for its incumbent under the existing scheme of £200 a year would have, under the supplemental scheme, an addition of £100—£300 in all—to which would be added any existing grants, etc., available for increase of income, the money value of double the poor law valuation of the glebe lands, less any rents payable, and a house rent free.

A COMPARISON.

Giving a comparison, his lordship said that at present there was no parish in the diocese the stipend of which reached £400 per annum. In the future there would be eleven parishes with £400 or more. In the past, seven parishes had £300, and in the future twenty-three parishes would have £300 or more. In the past, fifty parishes had incomes of only £200, and in the future all parishes would have an income of at least over £250 and a house. All these increments could not, of course, be carried into effect without the parishes, and half that sum (£1,680) for their supplemental scheme, most of their parishes would fall far short of this minimum stipend, and how they were to meet the obligation in their diocese seemed an almost insurmountable problem. It was true that a loophole had been found, which, in some few cases, might help in their difficulty. It had been decided that a parish might be allowed to, when "Veritas" is courageous enough to write over his own name, when he gets a reputable paper to publish his diatribes, he may expect to be dealt with in detail. The Church of Rome, after having weathered for two thousand years the storms of calumny, after having triumphantly lived down endless charges of superstition, witchery, deceit of the masses, trafficking on the ignorant, etc., need not fear the assaults of an anonymous scribe. She needs no apologist.

It is not my business to speak for Templemore, . . . I am concerned only with Cashel probability it would, by the special meeting the further increase of the stipends of their clergy by releasing funds which were now held up from such application.

AN ANXIOUS CRISIS.

They were, he proceeded, brought face to face with an anxious crisis in their country, and in their Church's position therein. He recalled what many feared, and hoped would have proved, happily, wrongly, a fatal crisis in the Church—her disestablishment and disendowment—and said that, as one who was ordained before that memorable catastrophe occurred he could speak from personal knowledge of the self-denying efforts of the clergy and laity of the Church in those days. By the grace and providence of God she weathered that storm, and she still existed and carried on the Master's work in her native land, and financially, by the efforts of her members and, through the latter, her leaders, she had that day secured as a permanent endowment for the future needs of her Divine mission a sum of nine millions sterling, surmounted, should they desspair or be recreant to duty, by a debt less critical, less anxious, but less critical, position in which she was placed to-day? God forbid. Let them go forward in faith and hope. The clergy attend anointed with power, the laity under their spiritual guidance and influence, and then, with God's blessing, all would be well. (Applause.)

THE SCHEME.

Mr. J. W. Dane proposed the adoption of the revised financial scheme, which, it was set out, was based on a 50 per cent. increase on the present assessment, supplemented by an augmentation of 50 per cent. on the present diocesan contribution. The Committee felt persuaded that amalgamation of parishes must be carried into effect if the future well-being of the Church was to be maintained. As to endowed parishes not in connection with the scheme, the Committee trusted that they would now increase the incomes of their several incumbents to at least the same extent as those parishes which all along had been making up a fixed assessment. Parishes ear-marked for amalgamation were in proportion dealt with in the same manner as other parishes pending amalgamation. In connection with the proposed increase of 50 per cent. on the present parochial assessments, the Committee were of opinion that parishes which had already in recent years voluntarily increased their liability should get credit under the proposed scheme for the additional sum being thus contributed. The Committee trusted that the incomes of curates would be brought up to £200 per annum on the same basis that incumbents would be dealt with. A sum of £5,612 would be required from the parishes initially, and a sum of £1,808 from the diocese by way of augmentation. Amalgamation was carried out the number required from the diocese would be reduced to £1,236. Mr. Dane pointed out that it was "up to" the people in the various parishes to advance the clergy to the position in which they ought to be placed. A man who had £100 a year formerly ought now to have £260. The Protestants of Clogher were now stirred up and given an opportunity to do their duty to their Church and God.

Mr. M. E. Knight, solicitor, seconded the motion, and said that their clergy were labouring under a most serious financial disability. The increased prosperity that had attended the agricultural community during the past few years first demand that should be made upon them was to see that their clergy should not suffer. They believed that the scheme was the only one that could be put forward to relieve the present situation, and it was "up to" the laity to carry it through to a successful termination.

Colonel Archdale objected to the scheme, which, he said, was based on the principle of arrangements, and not on the matter of ability to pay, and it would discourage subscriptions.

Mr. Harry Archdale agreed with this view, and said that before they adopted this scheme the present system of assessment should be revised, and all parishes put on an exactly fair and just footing.

Mr. Dane said that postponing the scheme meant that the clergy would not get their due.

After further discussion the scheme was adopted, Colonel Archdale and Mr. H. Archdale dissenting, and resolutions were passed with a view to carrying it into effect once the approval of the Representative Church Body is obtained.

MYSTERIOUS OCCURRENCE IN CORK COLLEGE.

A strange outrage was perpetrated at the Univercity College, Cork, on Thursday night, when masked and armed men entered the building, and, "holding up" the watchmen with revolvers, broke into the office of Professor Swaine, the superior of examinations now in progress. They appear to have made a thorough search, and left the papers strewn upon the floor. The object of the outrage is not clear, but it resulted in giving several of the professors the trouble of setting new papers for another examination.

DEATH OF MR. ANDREW BLACK.

Mr. Andrew Black, the Scottish baritone, who was known all over the English-speaking world, has just passed away at Sydney, New South Wales. He was organist in a Presbyterian church in Glasgow at one time, and, discovering he had a good voice, trained in London with Georgina Burns and others. He then went to Donrico Scarfati at Milan. His farewell took place at Sir August Mann's Crystal Palace concerts in 1887. Tours in America, South Africa, Australia, and Great Britain followed. At Leeds Festival in 1892 his Elijah made him famous. Latterly he married and settled in Australia.

Reuter's New York Correspondent says—The five Socialists who were expelled from the State Legislature early this year, on charges of disloyalty, were re-elected in special elections held on Thursday.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

THE STATE OF IRELAND.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—I see in the papers the resignations of Lord Lieutenants and Deputy-Lieutenants of counties. In my humble opinion this is a mistake. If there are resignations, these resignations would be much more effective if made en masse instead of individually. I suggest that somebody of more importance than myself should convene a meeting of Lord Lieutenants and Deputy-Lieutenants, who are living and intend living in Ireland, to discuss the question of resignation. My opinion is that, if the Army of Occupation were removed, and Lord Lieutenants and Deputy-Lieutenants allowed to exercise their ancient powers, they, in conjunction with County Councils, would be in a position to guarantee the peace of the country. As things are, no Irishmen have any voice in the government of the country, and even the police force is fast becoming a part of the Middlesex Regiment.—Yours, etc.,

GEORGE TAAFFE.

Smarmore Castle, Ardee, September 17th, 1920.

REPEAL OF THE UNION.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—I have read with interest Mr. Judge's letter on the above. Mr. Judge seems well up in that very intricate subject, Irish history. Perhaps, he would enlighten me on one or two points. In 1799, let us say, Ireland had a supreme Parliament of her own; what more did she want? Why, during the following years, were Wolfe Tone, Napper Tandy, and others engaged in intrigues with France for a French invasion? Was it not during that period that Ireland was "the most distressful country that ever yet was seen"? And why the Rebellion of 1798? Who was that against? Was it not against their own Government and supreme Parliament?

One question more. Mr. Judge throws in the Army casually, as one of the things that are to be under the Irish Parliament. Was that so under Grattan's Parliament? I think not. Surely English troops were quartered in Ireland at that time? Finally, does Mr. Judge consider that the Irish harbours are to be wholly under the Irish Parliament? I rather gather that the title of "King of Ireland" would be on a par with that of "King of France" retained until of late years by the English King.—Yours, etc.,

Co. Meath, September 17th, 1920. INQUIRER."

THE REPORTED MIRACLES AT CASHEL.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—May I again assure you that I have no bleeding crucifixes or statues for anyone to see? The reason is because I do not believe in the miraculous bleeding of these sacred objects.

I doubted it from the beginning; I now disbelieve in it. This ought to satisfy, for the present, all pious enquirers.

A correspondent writing from Dublin, over the much desecrated name "Veritas," sends me a copy of a letter which he has addressed to the public papers. He politely reminds me that such alleged miraculous manifestations "are old russe" or the Catholic Church. He concludes:—"The recent manifestations at Templemore and Cashel are the work of the old ruses in new surroundings, and with the same plausible purpose of superstitious deception."

When "Veritas" is courageous enough to write over his own name, when he gets a reputable paper to publish his diatribes, he may expect to be dealt with in detail. The Church of Rome, after having weathered for two thousand years the storms of calumny, after having triumphantly lived down endless charges of superstition, witchery, deceit of the masses, trafficking on the ignorant, etc., need not fear the assaults of an anonymous scribe. She needs no apologist.

It is not my business to speak for Templemore, . . . I am concerned only with Cashel manifestations." I may, however, say that, as far as I know, I am the first priest—perhaps, the only priest—that has had a public and official connection with any of the alleged "manifestations." I am one of those charged by "Veritas" with encouraging, if not creating, those "ruses" for the purpose of superstitious deception." "Veritas," I think, all who may think alike, should not shut their eyes to facts. The facts have been already published. Those seeming sweatings or bleedings took place behind my back, without my knowledge, and to my utter amazement. I availed myself of the first opportunity I got, and of every opportunity since, to warn the people not to be over-credulous, to tell them to beware, and to await proofs. The public Press published my words spoken at Mass the morning after the "manifestations." The Irish Cadic of September 18th rehearses my address:—"He (Dean Ryan) cautioned the people about giving premature credence to the miraculous and supernatural in these happenings. He explained that such things might come from a good or from an evil source. They were bound to be sceptical and critical, and should not act on them with precipitancy until God gave manifest approval by a miracle of the first order, such as the restoration of sight to the blind, hearing to the deaf, the power of walking to the lame, etc. Such Divine testimony had not yet been given. Therefore their duty was to be reserved. All should abjure all approval prematurely precipitate in, any manifestation of a preternatural kind that was not fortified by a clear miracle or by ecclesiastical authority."

Further, I told the young man himself, who was supposed to be at the back of these "manifestations," that I had, and would have, no faith in the future in any of these apparitions until, with my own eyes, I saw the supposed sweating or bleeding begin, or until I have seen confirmed by a live miracle—the blind seeing, the dumb speaking, the deaf hearing, etc. I likewise warned the public to withhold belief until some such miracle occurred. I backed up the "Veritas" policy to the very day after the "manifestation"; they are locked now ever since. I turned away from my door thoughtless, disappointed because they would not be allowed to see those sacred objects. I forbade them go to the Blessed Sacrament on our altars, where the bleeding Victim of Love is certainly and ever present, and where there is no possibility of deceit.

I will ask "Veritas," if he be an honest enquirer, whether, by the attitude I assumed in regard to these recent "manifestations" at Cashel, I resurrected any "old ruse" for "superstitious deception," or for any other purpose. I was on the side of "veritas" in these manifestations," and so is the Catholic Church, which I have the privilege to belong.—Yours, etc.,

THE ENGLISH PRINTING DISPUTE.

A PROVISIONAL SETTLEMENT.

A provisional settlement of the dispute in the printing trades of Manchester and Liverpool was reached last evening after negotiations which began at 2 o'clock on Thursday afternoon and lasted, with a break of six hours, until 6.30 last evening. Subject to ratification by the members of the Manchester and Liverpool branches, work will be resumed. The Liverpool men will meet to-day and the Manchester men either to-day or to-morrow. The full terms of the settlement will not be announced until it is ratified. The effect of this decision is that morning papers will also be published in Manchester and Liverpool to-day, and there is little likelihood of evening papers being published to-day. In the event of the ratification of the agreement papers will be issued as usual on Monday.

QUEEN'S UNIVERSITY, BELFAST.

The winter session of the Queen's University, Belfast, will open on Friday, 1st October, and lectures in the various faculties will begin on Tuesday, 12th October. The University has resumed printing the regulations for the faculties of arts, science, medicine (including dentistry), commerce, and law, and these may be obtained from the Secretary on application. In connection with modern languages, travelling scholarships have been founded, which another important development will be the appointment which the University hopes to be able to make in a short time, of a lecturer in agriculture, a lecturer in agricultural chemistry, and a demonstrator in agricultural biology.

MILITARY LORRIES IN COLLISION.

Patrick Myers, a labourer, of Ballyhurst, was driving a cart through Main street, Tipperary, when a military motor lorry coming in the opposite direction, dashed into it. The impact smashed the shafts of the cart, which, with the driver, was hurled to one side of the street. Myers was removed to hospital. The military authorities will hold an inquiry into the matter.

Our Tulsk Correspondent states:—While Mr. J. F. Gallagher, merchant, Strokestown, was proceeding to Ballaghaderreen to visit his sister, a military motor lorry collided with his motor car. Mr. Gallagher was severely injured, and had to be removed to a Dublin hospital.

EXTENSION OF LURGAN LINEN DISPUTE.

The conference between Lurgan employers and the members of the National Union of Clerks, which the representative of the Ministry of Labour was trying to arrange in Belfast yesterday did not take place, in consequence, it is stated, of the refusal of the employers to participate. Instead a conference between representatives of the National Union of Clerks and the Workers' Association, and the Sailors' and Firemen's Union was held. It was decided to "hold up" all goods of the Lurgan employers concerned, and of those Belfast firms which helped the Lurgan employers.

It is officially stated that Lord Howard of Glossop has decided to sell his extensive estates in Derbyshire, Cheshire, Lndworth, and Chirkworth, in all 2,400 acres

LONDON CORRESPONDENCE.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
FRIDAY NIGHT.

The coal situation does not appear to be much easier after the prolonged negotiations at the Board of Trade, for after to-day's proceedings Mr. Smillie stated that the miners would not discuss any of the Government proposals unless they received the 2s. increase in wages demanded. An anxious situation, however, is rather lightened by the fact that the miners at present have abandoned their claim to fix the price of coal. This alone has greatly eased the position. With regard to the wages, it is understood that the Government will absolutely refuse to agree to any advance, except on a basis providing for a greater production of coal.

The Government is willing that any question of an advance of wages shall be referred to the Industrial Court; but, if the miners have no real case for such an increase, they are unlikely to agree to this suggestion. The services of the Industrial Court need not be invoked if the miners would agree to an increase in pay dependent on output, though it is quite possible that there would have to be an inquiry of some kind. If the miners really have the interests of the consumers at heart, they can easily help them, for, if the output were increased by one-half, the poor would once again be able to secure coal at a reasonable price, while the cost of living would come tumbling down with a run.

The conference has been adjourned until Monday afternoon, so it is too early to abandon hope; but there was considerable despondency in business circles to-day, and it is feared that Mr. Smillie still intends to force a strike if he can. This point of view, however, is of too gloomy a character. Mr. Smillie has very strong opponents in the ranks of the Executive of the Miners' Federation, and he will be unable to get things all his own way. Tuesday is now regarded as the crucial day, so everybody must wait in patience until then.

I mentioned on Wednesday that a large amount of business was being done in the insurance world in connection with a possible strike. This business has increased, and so have the rates. Lloyd's are now asking 2s. 6d. per cent. for insurance of business premises in case of disturbance, and 1s. per cent. for private houses and personal belongings. The period in both cases is for six months only.

The spectre of unemployment during the coming winter is causing much worry and anxiety to the Labour leaders generally, and most of them are very desirous that there should be an end to strikes and strike threats. Some of them recognise that employers are being pushed in circumstances that may compel them to take steps that they otherwise would not contemplate. Many works are now being carried on form day to day, and it is no secret that some recent closures were brought about by inability to secure capital. Unions are concerned about the stability of their schemes of unemployment insurance in supplement of the State scheme, and they want peace and quiet in order that they may ascertain how they stand.

Geneva is said to be buzzing about the first general assembly of the League of Nations, which is to take place in the old city in November. There will be one hundred and twenty delegates, and each group will be attended by a considerable staff, so that very large accommodation will be required. The delegates from Great Britain have not yet been selected, and the possibility of the Prime Minister's going as one is being mooted. A most difficult question, and one that will give rise to much heart-burning, is that of the admission of Germany into the League. It is said that the English-speaking people may be in favour of admission, but that the Latin countries may not.

The Railway Rates Advisory Committee is now preparing its report, and it is expected that it will be available before very long. This report will deal with goods rates, and it is probable that the average increase of 50 per cent. will be recommended. The railways will be returned to their owners in a measure at the end of next July, but, seeing that the Ministry of Transport will then put into operation its scheme of co-ordination and supervision, the restoration will most likely be in name only.

The terrible explosion in New York was generally unknown here last night, though there were rumours that something of a very startling kind had happened in the United States. It is indicated to-day that the police authorities in New York believe the outrage to be due to a deliberate plot, fostered by international extremists. No messages to this effect have been received by the special branch at Scotland Yard, but the police are keeping a close watch on a number of men with very extreme views in this country, and certain precautions have been taken. These steps will not be made public, since such a course would naturally defeat the object of the police, but it is known that many places are under watch and ward. Another message of information was received by the police here and in New York that certain extremists meant to do harm, not only in the United States, but in Great Britain and her daughter countries.

Mr. Lansbury, of the Daily Herald, was very scornful to-day when questioned with regard to a statement supposed to have come from him that he was willing that his bank book, and the pass books of other directors of his paper, should be open to an inquiry set up by the Labour Party; and he refused to make any statement, as did Mr. R. Williams, also a director. The Evening News, however, says that it is able to state that a drastic inquiry is now on foot, and that much more will be heard of the matter.

Lady Margaret Forbes, who will wed Captain the Hon. George Savile, son of the fourth Earl of Mexborough, on Wednesday next at St. Mary's, Cadogan street, will wear a beautiful wedding dress of rose point lace, over a foundation dress of white satin. The lace, which was worn by the late Countess of Granard at her wedding, is attached to broad bands of satin, which are picturesquely draped about the gown, and cross in front of the skirt. A train of the same lace is attached to the shoulders of the gown, and a veil of tulle will be held in the hair by a coronet of myrtle. The bride will be attended by two train-bearers, Viscount Forbes, her nephew, and Lady Beatrice Savile, a niece of the bridegroom, who both will be dressed in white satin. The Roman Catholic Bishop of Southwark will officiate, and the bride will be given away by her brother, Lord Granard.

THE ARCHBISHOP OF DUBLIN.

BELFAST.

At the last meeting of the Kilkenny Technical Committee, the Mayor said that since last meeting the Right Rev. Dr. Gregg had had a great distinction conferred upon him in being elected Archbishop of Dublin, and he thought the Committee should offer their congratulations to him. He might say, from his experience of Dr. Gregg, that he was always struck with his sincerity and his anxiety to do what was right and straight and just. It was a pleasure to act on the Committee with him. He had great pleasure in proposing the following resolution:—"That we, the members of Kilkenny Joint Technical Instruction Committee, beg respectfully to convey to the Right Rev. Dr. Gregg our hearty congratulations on his unanimous election to the Archbishopric of Dublin at the same time we desire to express our gratitude for the able and active assistance which he has afforded this Committee at all times, and their sincere regret at his departure."—Alderman Upton seconded the resolution, which was passed unanimously.

FINANCIAL NEWS

DUBLIN STOCK EXCHANGE.

FUNDS AND GUINNESS OFFERED. BANKS, DUBLIN DISTILLERS, COATS, DUNLOPS, OILS, AND TOBACCOS ALL HIGHER.

The week-end market on 'Change yesterday was at least interesting, even if it lacked animation or outstanding feature. Government Funds were neglected again, outside of War Loan 5 p.c., which was weaker. Banks were in continued request, and a general advance established. Dublin Distillers Ord. were again bought, but the market in Guinness slipped further on a little selling in the absence of support. Marconis were quiet, but steady. Home Rails were entirely neglected. Trusts were firm, but practically nominal. There was a decidedly firmer market for Dunlop Rubber Shares on further well-sustained support and more favourable ideas as to the value of the proposed new issue. Textiles were steady. Coats were wanted. Tobacco and Oils show increased animation and strength.

In the Funds, War Loan 5 p.c. alone quoted, and fell ½ to 84-½, and to 84-⅛ by deed.

The demand for Banking Securities again favourably affected prices. Bank Stock was 2 to 175. Hibernians 4½ to 5-½, Munsters ¼ to 6, and Nationals ¼ to 15½.

Breweries and Distilleries again moved irregularly. Guinness Ord. gave way a further ½ to 31¼, while Dublin Distillers Ord. rose 9d. to 58s. 9d.

In Tramways, the Ord. repeated 55s.; and in Trams, Dublin United Pref. were unaltered at 71.

Dunlop Rubber Shares were in decidedly better request, and rose 2s. 1½d. to 32s. ex rights and new shares. The "Letters" were also firmer at 3d. to 4d.

Gas, Bakery, Drapery, Trading, and Miscellaneous Securities were quite featureless and almost neglected.

In Textiles, Coats Ord. rose 9d. to 53s. 6d., while Cotton Ord. fell 3d. to 39s. 3d. Calico Printers repeated 26s. 3d.

The Oil market was very good. Mexican Eagle Oil ordered ½ better at 11¾, after all offered lower were absorbed. Shells rose ½ to 7-⅛ 8.

Imperial Tobacco improved 9d. more to 49s. 3d.

SMALL STOCKS.

HOPEFUL OF LABOUR SETTLEMENT.
(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

In view of the obscure outlook, both political and industrial, it is not surprising to find Stock Exchange business reduced to very limited proportions. Yesterday the conditions were much the same as those ruling earlier in the week. Business was small, while the tone showed considerable firmness. A few features of special interest developed during the day, the principal being a jump in French Government issues. This was due to anticipations that the existing 9 and 4 p.c. Stocks will be convertible into the new 6 p.c. Loan, but interest on this side will be payable at a fixed rate of exchange. A very keen demand sprang up for the Bonds, particularly the 9 p.c., and the price rose 4 points, or 4 francs each hundred. Other descriptions in the Foreign Bond market had a hardening tendency, owing to a gradual recovery in the exchange position. Mexicans exceptionally were strong. Home Rails enjoyed some recovery, the feature being a sharp advance in Underground Income Bonds on a renewal of buying attracted by the coming increase in fares. High class investment Stocks were inclined to hang fire. Government issues met with a fair amount of support, and the 5 p.c. War Loan became relatively dear. Indian Loans continued dull, and there was a weaker tendency for Home Corporation issues.

LONDON STOCKS BETTER.

SPECIALITIES GOOD.

The Stock Exchange concluded the week in a very cheerful frame of mind. Specialities were good all round the House, and, though the volume of business was restricted as regards new business, there was sufficient support to encourage insiders' policy in advancing values. Some of the groups recently prominent met with good realising, and both Oil and Mexican descriptions finished irregularly with mixed changes. Statements that the Government had not yet settled down at the renewed meetings of the miners and the Government were responsible for some caution at the extreme close. Gilt-edged issues tended forward quietly, while Home Rails registered many gains, ranging up to a point. Dollar securities were awaiting Wall street re-opening, after the enforced holiday on Thursday as a result of the dastardly bomb outrage in the New York financial district. There was a further move up in Argentine Rails, which were often a point to the good. The feature of the foreign market was the buoyancy of French loans, which reflected a big jump on rumours that a new and important conversion rights was coming along. Among gilt-edged securities the tendency was firm in sympathy with the better tendency of the Money markets, and the more normal New York exchange. Colonial loans kept hard.

FOREIGN BONDS BUOYANT. — In the foreign market there was an important movement in French loans on rumours referred to above. The 5 per cent. spurted to 51¾, and the Fours at 44 were about 4 up. Other Continental issues were firm, much in evidence. Russian remained nominal and depressed. Belgian 3 per cent. held at 54. Greek issues were steady, without change. Among Far Eastern loans, Japanese descriptions were hardly so firm owing to the higher New York exchange, but no important reaction was registered, and the 4½ per cents. closed at 105.

Rises—Chinese 4½ p.c. 1 to 55; do. 5 p.c., 1 to 61; French loan, 3 to 51¾. Falls—German Three-½, ½ to 6¼.

HOME RAILS ADVANCE.—Home Rails were put forward with some confidence on the brighter hopes of a coal settlement, and, while the news was circulated at the close that the new conference had adjourned without an understanding being reached, it merely induced some caution during the final hour, and failed to bring about a reaction. Among Trunk and Tradeo stocks there were many gains of ½ to ⅝. Great Northern Def. was a good feature at 28¾. North-Western gained 1 at 77. Under grounds were well supported, and good advances were shown. Scotch stocks were hard.

CANADIANS AND MEXICANS DULL. — Canadian Pacific were 170 despite the fall in the dollar. Other dollar securities showed little change. Grand Trunk stocks ruled dull at about previous levels. Mexican Rails were put back one point all round on the light realising to secure profits, but Argentine Rails were supported, and market several gains of a point, though the Labour position in Argentina is anything but satisfactory.

CHEERFUL WIND-UP TO THE WEEK IN INDUSTRIALS.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

The recuperative powers of the Miscellaneous and Industrial Markets were demonstrated yesterday, when dealers generally did a more satisfactory day's business than for some time past. The volume of business done appreciated more closely to the normal, and under the influence of the market leaders, a moderate, but widespread, improvement was noticeable throughout the various sections. Helped by the usual week-end straightening of accounts, the more hopeful view which seemed justified in the earlier hours of the day with regard to the Coal situation again asserted itself, and professional dealings and speculative issues were the centre of considerable interest. Owing, further, to the sensitive state of the market, which has been systematised out of stock lately, the effects of the better sentiment were accentuated yesterday. Notwithstanding the obvious brightness in many directions, however, it cannot be said that the public have as yet taken much of a hand in the matter. A little inquiry can be fairly assumed as emanating from outside sources, but it would be unprofitable to attempt to obscure the largely professional nature of the day's transactions. Dunlops came into better request than has been noticeable since dealings began on the new basis, and a good recovery was shown at the close. The better sentiment was particularly noticeable in the Iron and Steel section, while Coal Shares also exhibited improvement. Vickers put on 6d. on balance to 23s. 9d., and Pease and Partners were ⅛ better at 32s. 6d. Consett Iron were a bright spot, changing hands up to 34s. 6d., and Bolckow Vaughans were raised 5d. to 27s. 9d. Babcock Wilcox, at 24, were ¼ better, and B.S.A. hardened 6d. to 21s. Among Coal Stocks Powell Duffryn further improved ½ to the good, North's Navigation, at 8s. 6d., were 3d. better, and D. Davis harder at 9s. 6d. Wm. Cory, at 84-½, were firm, but unchanged. Northern Exploration enjoyed a sharp spurt to 17s. The Shipping section formed no exception to the generally more cheerful tone, several of the leading issues hardening under the influence of a further recovery of 8 in P. and O. Def. to 410, and a little more interest in the market. Furness Withy were a good spot at 30s. 3d., and Cunard were in better form than for some time, concluding with an improvement of ⅛ to 23s. 9d. Exceptionally, Anglo-European R.S. lost 6d. at 2s. 8d. ex div. Among Insurance securities, Commercial Union rose 1 to 28, and Sea Insurance gained 1 at 44. Chartered of India lost 7½ at 65 in the Banking section on the new capital proposal. Bays rose ½, in the Land group, to 6¾, and Sudan Plantations hardened to 5¾. Pekins spurted 2s. to 16s. 6d., Assams were ½ to 1½. Except for Courtaulds, which, after going over that figure, finished ⅛ up at 7, and Coats, which put on ⅛ at 2½ ex div., Textiles provided little of interest. Amalgamated Cottons were dull, though unchanged at 25s. 6d., and Calicos eased 10½d. to 28s. Spinners remained 2½. John Wood were a firm spot, finishing with a gain of 3d. at 22s., and Textile Corporation advanced to 14s. 6d. The company paid a 10 per cent. interim dividend a short time ago, since when, however, shares have ruled about 1¾. The improvement seems to indicate appreciation of the company's position. After having continued a quietly firm market since dealings began on the new basis, Rubbers came back into favour yesterday, a moderate amount of business being put through. The leaders rose as much as 3d. ex div., which showed a net rise of ¼ on the day. The Lesters were freely dealt in on a basis of 4d. to 6d. Imperial Tobaccos, continuing their recovery, finished 9d. to 50s. 6d., but B.A.T. were not so good at 34½ ex div., and Godfrey Phillips eased ½ to parity. Gas Stocks were quiet, and Commercial outstanding with an improvement of 2 to 95¾. After fluctuating considerably, British Oil and Cake subsided, and later suffered a relapse to 42s. 9d., but by the close a rally left a net change on the day of 2s. 6d. Canadas were wanted at 27s., and Nelson Bros., among Meat shares, put on ⅛ at 14s. British and Argentine Meat, on the other hand, eased 3d. to 21s. 3d. Wolsbach Ord. improved to 5-⅛. Dennis Bros. were firm in the Motor group at 28s. 9d. In the Brewery section, business was in negligible proportions, the day's transactions being chiefly notable for a drop of 15 in Guinness Ord. to 315. Ind. Coope were harder at 7-⅛. Gordon Hotels lost ½ at 6¾. Maypoles were easier in the Foodstuffs group, closing at 12s.

MINING SHARES BRIGHT.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

Despite the approach of the week-end, the brightness which developed in the Stock Exchange on the preceding day was in no way dimmed yesterday. In fact, rather more animation was noticeable in some of the speculative departments, and the Mining market gained a fair share of attention. Business in public and professionals alike were a little chary of greatly increasing commitments, especially as the price of gold was down to £5 17s. 6d. per ounce. Parr's Bank was hardly a factor, and the Capo advices were not of a particularly encouraging character. However, buyers of shares were the evidence, and quotations were inclined to harden. There were one or two exceptions, but they were mostly of the high-priced variety, and even in these the setback was not significant. Rhodesian made an effort to shake off their dulness, and as Chartereds gave a lead under the influence of a strong demand, the attempt was rather successful, the tone at the close being quite firm. With Paris interested in other directions, Diamonds came in for very little attention, and De Beers Deferred changed hands once or twice in a slip back. A sharp rise occurred in the price of tin, but this did not prevent a reaction in the share market, which was thus also animated in its movements on Thursday. Siamese, it is true, were in some request, but the other movements were downward, Aramayo Francke being depressed by the pending litigation. Kaffirs were neglected, but in the Australian department the Hampton group continued a busy centre and prices strengthened. Barriers were 4s. 3d. higher, Central Copper were also fully mentioned. In the Miscellaneous section a big business was again put through in Burmas, but the final price was below the overnight's level. Oil possessed a receptive tone, it being thought that the suggested additional capital, whether in the form of debentures or notes, will be beneficial to the company. Mexican Eagles, Shells, and other Silver Shares were easier, but there was a further demand in Northern Exploration.

OIL SHARE MARKET BUSY.

HEAVY DEALINGS IN EAGLES AND SHELLS.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

As was only to be expected, following the news of the ringing in of production of another important well, Mexican Eagles provided the chief feature of the Oil Share market yesterday. Opening well above the previous level, they further advanced in response to strong bidding, but the market in the shares was spoiled by some heavy sales on Paris account. The absence from the House of many of the latter were well absorbed, but, nevertheless, the price gave way under pressure of the sales until the whole of the early improvement was wiped out. Right on to the end the hardened again, and on balance showed a trifling gain. With this exception, the market, although generally on the firm side, moved to no particular way direction, and the price movements finally recorded were mostly of an unimportant character. A fair business was done in Shells, the quotations keeping within narrow limits, finishing a trifle down. Royal Dutch remained comparatively quiet and also registered a decline. Burmahs, after a quiet business, fell off slightly early in the day. Assam Oils maintained their recent improvement, and Indo-Burmahs kept steadily pending the issue of the promised development report. The Trinidad group presented nothing of special interest, and while Leaseholds and United British of Trinidad preserved a steady tone, Central Trinidads were a trifle easier. The Anglo-Persian announces that oil has been struck in No. 2 well at 1,090 feet, and that a baling test produced 250 barrels in 24 hours without lowering the oil. It is stated that the well is to be drilled deeper and a pump installed. The company is now making deliveries of oil to Trinidad Leaseholds, whose pipeline connects with the property within a short distance of both No. 1 and No. 2 wells. In other directions, Rumanian Concessions and Dillwellin Finance were hardened, and Lobitos were firmly closed steady, but Anglo-Egyptian "B" left off easier. Closing prices:—

RUBBER SHARES BRIGHTER.

(FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

The Rubber market, after being dull and dragged closed a little above the worst. Rubber Trusts, for instance, being 2s., and so showed an advance on the day. Pro-Rubs (Ralton) were the last day for sending in applications for the new shares. Bukit Semahawangs at 3s. were a feature, but were not amongst the shares to show fully sharp recoveries. So 4½d. United Sua Belong 3½, and the New Shares ¼ prem. Anglo-Malay went back to 3⅞. 8d., and Anglo-Dutch to 45s. 3d.

FINANCIAL NEWS

DUBLIN STOCK EXCHANGE.

FUNDS AND GUINNESS OFFERED. BANKS, DUBLIN DISTILLERS, COATS, DUNLOPS, OILS, AND TOBACCOS ALL HIGHER.

The week-end market on Change yesterday was at least interesting, even if it lacked animation or outstanding feature. Government Funds were neglected again, outside of War Loan 5 p.c., which was weaker. Banks were in continued request, and a general advance established. Dublin Distillers Ord. were again bought, but the market in Guinness slipped further on a little selling in the absence of support. Marconis were quiet, but steady. Home Rails were entirely neglected. Trams were firm, but practically nominal. There was a decidedly firmer market for Dunlop Rubber Shares on further well-sustained support and more favourable ideas as to the value of the proposed new issue. Textiles were steady. Coats were wanted. Tobacco and Oils show increased animation and strength.

In the Funds, War Loan 5 p.c. alone quoted, and fell ½ to 84-½, and to 84-¼ by deed.

The demand for Banking Securities again favourably affected prices. Bank Stock rose 2 to 175, Hibernians ½ to 5-¼, Munsters ½ to 6-½, and Nationals ½ to 152.

Breweries and Distilleries again moved irregularly. Guinness Ord. gave way a further ½ to 31½, while Dublin Distillers Ord. rose 9d. to 59s. 9d.

In Marconis, the Ord. repeated 85s.; and in Trams, Dublin United Pref. were unaltered at 71.

Dunlop Rubber Shares were in decidedly better request and rose 2s. 1½d. to 32s. ex rights and new shares. The "Letters" were also firmer at 3d. to 4d.

Gas, Bakery, Drapery and Miscellaneous Securities were dull, speculative features and almost neglected.

In Textiles, Coats Ord. rose 9d. to 53s. 6d., while Cotton Ord. fell 3d. to 39s. 3d. Calico Printers repeated 28s. 3d.

The Oil market was very good. Mexican Eagle Oil closed ½ better at 113, after all offered round were absorbed. Shells rose ½ to 7-¼ 8.

Imperial Tobacco improved 9d. more to 49s. 3d.

SMALL STOCKS.

HOPEFUL OF LABOUR SETTLEMENT.
(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

In view of the obscure outlook, both political and industrial, it is not surprising to find Stock Exchange business reduced to very limited dimensions. Yesterday the conditions were much the same as those ruling earlier in the week. Business was small, while the tone showed considerable firmness. A few features of special interest developed during the day, the principal being a jump in French Government issues. This was due to anticipations that the existing 5 and 4 p.c. Stocks will be convertible into the new 5 p.c. Loan, and that interest on this will be payable at a fixed rate of exchange. A very keen demand sprang up for the Bonds, particularly the 5 p.c., and the available supply soon became limited. Other descriptions in the Foreign Bond market had a hardening tendency, owing to a gradual recovery in the exchange position. Mexicans exceptionally were weak. Rails displayed a good deal of recovery, the feature being a sharp advance in Underground Income Bonds on a renewal of buying attracted by the coming increase in fares. Miscellaneous Investment Stocks were inclined to hang fire. Government issues met with a fair amount of support, and the 5 p.c. War Loan rallied smartly. India Loans continued dull. Argentine Rails showed a weaker tendency for Home Corporation issues.

LONDON STOCKS BETTER.

SPECIALITIES GOOD.

The Stock Exchange concluded the week in a very cheerful frame of mind. Specialities were good all round the "House," and, though the week-end influences were restricted as regards new business, there was sufficient support to encourage insiders' policy in advancing values. Some of the groups recently prominent were again in favour, and both Oil and Mexican descriptions finished irregularly with mixed changes. Statements that the coal deadlock had not yet been settled at the renewed meeting of the miners and the Government were responsible for some caution at the extreme close. Gilt-edged issues tended forward quietly, while Rails registered many gains, ranging up to a point. Dollar securities were awaiting Wall street re-opening, after the enforced closing on Thursday as a result of the bomb outrage in the New York financial district. There was a further move up in Argentine Rails, which were often a point to the good. The feature of the foreign market was the buoyancy of French loans, which reflected a high opinion on rumours that a new issue was imminent, with important conversion rights, was to be floated along. Among gilt-edged securities the tendency was firm in sympathy with the better tendency of the Money market, and the undertone of New York exchange. Colonial loans were in request, but the other movements were downward, Aramaco Francke being depressed by the pending litigation. The new Australian department the Hampton group continued a busy centre and prices strengthened. Barriers were as firm as ever. Coppers were little altered on balance. In the Miscellaneous section a big business was again put through in Burmas, but the final price was below the overnight's level. Trade descriptions recovered, being thought that the suggested additional capital, whether in the form of debentures or notes, will be beneficial to the company. Mexico Mines were firmer, while the Silver Shares were easier, but there was a further jump in Northern Exploration.

OIL SHARE MARKET BUSY.

HEAVY DEALINGS IN EAGLES AND SHELLS.
(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

As was only to be expected, following the news of the huge increase in the output of another important well, Mexican Eagles provided the chief feature of the Oil Share market yesterday. Opening well above the overnight level, the shares were quickly in response to strong bidding, but the market in the shares was spoiled by some heavy sales on Paris account. The shares which came on the market were not so good as 3½ ex div., and Godden Phillips eased ½ to parity. Gas Stocks were quiet, and Commercial outstanding with improvements of 2 to 5/8. After fluctuating considerably, British Oil and Cake subsided, and later suffered a relapse to 42s. 9d., but by the close a rally left a net change on the day of 6d. to 9d. Central Mexicans were harder at 27s., and Nelson Bros., among Meat shares, put on ½ at 14s. British and Argentine Meat, on the other hand, eased 3d. to 21s. 3d. Welsbach Ord. improved to 1-½ on Dennis Bros. were firm in the Motor group at 28s. 9d. In the Brewery section, business was in negligible proportions, the day's transactions being chiefly notable for a drop of 15 in Guinness Ord. to 315. Ind. Coope were harder at 1-¼. Gordon Hotels lost ½ at 6½. Maypoles were easier in the Foodstuffs group, closing at 12s.

MINING SHARES BRIGHT.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

Despite the approach of the week-end, the brightness which developed in the Stock Exchange during the early part of the week was not dimmed yesterday. In fact, rather more animation was noticeable in some of the speculative departments, and the Mining market gained a fair share of attention. Business in Kaffirs was by no means on a large scale, but public and professionals alike were a little chary of greatly increasing commitments, especially as the price of gold was down to 125 17s. 6d. per ounce. Prices were mixed in character, and the Cape advices were not of a particularly encouraging character. However, buyers of cheap shares were in evidence, and quotations were inclined to harden. There were one or two exceptions, but they were mostly of the high-priced variety, and even in these instances the tendency was firm. Rhodesians made an effort to shake off their dulness, and as Charterers gave a lead under the influence of a steady demand, the attempt was partly successful, the tone at the close being quite firm. With Paris interested in other directions, Diamonds came in for very little attention, and Kimberleys and Jagersfontein were allowed to slip back. A sharp rise occurred in the price of tin, but this did not prevent a reaction in the share market, which lost what little animation it possessed on Thursday. Siamese, it is true, were in some request, but the other movements were downward, Aramavo Francke being depressed by the pending litigation. The new Australian department the Hampton group continued a busy centre and prices strengthened. Barriers were as firm as ever. Coppers were little altered on balance. In the Miscellaneous section a big business was again put through in Burmas, but the final price was below the overnight's level. Trade descriptions recovered, being thought that the suggested additional capital, whether in the form of debentures or notes, will be beneficial to the company. Mexico Mines were firmer, while the Silver Shares were easier, but there was a further jump in Northern Exploration.

RUBBER SHARES BRIGHTER.

(FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

The Rubber market, after being dull and dispirited, closed a little above the worst. Rubber Trusts, for instance, being 2s., and so showing an advance on the day. To-day (Saturday) is the last day for sending in applications for the new shares. Bukit Sembawangs at 3s. were a trifle better, but dealings and speculative issues were the centre of considerable interest. Owing, further, to the sensitive state of the market, which has been systematically cleared out of stock lately, the effect of the better sentiment were accentuated yesterday. Notwithstanding the obvious brightness in many directions, however, it cannot be said that the public have as yet taken much of a hand in the matter. A little inquiry can be fairly assumed as emanating from outside sources, but it would be unprofitable to attempt to obscure the largely professional nature of the day's transactions. Dunlops came into better request than has been noticeable since the general boom on the new basis, and a good dealing began on the new basis, and a good recovery was shown at the close. The better sentiment was particularly noticeable in the Iron and Steel section, whilst Coal Cakes also exhibited improvement. Vickers put on 6d. on balance to £3s. 9d., and Pease and Partners were ½ better at 32s. 6d. Consett Iron were a bright spot, changing hands up to 34s. 6d., and Bolckow Vaughans were raised 9d. to 23s. 9d. Babcock Wilcox, 3s. 9d., were 3d. better, and B.S.A. hardened 6d. to £1s. Among Coal Stocks Powell Duffryn further improved ½ to £4. North's Navigation, at 8s. 6d., were 3d. better, and D. Davis harder at 9s. 6d. Wm. Cory, at £4½, were firm, but unchanged. Northern Exploration enjoyed a sharp spurt of 1½. The Shipping section formed no exception to the generally more cheerful tone, several of the leading issues hardening under the influence of a further recovery of 8 in F. and O. Pref. to 410, and a little more interest in the market. Furness Withy were a good spot at 30s. 3d., and Lunards were in better form than for some time, concluding with an improvement of ½ to £3s. 9d. Exceptionally Anglo-European 8-8. lost 6d. at 2s. 6d. ex div. Among Insurance securities Commercial Union rose 1 to 26, and Sea Insurance gained 1 at 4½. Chartered of India lost 7½ at 65 in the Banking section on the new capital proposals. Bays rose ½ in the Land group to 6½, and Sudan Plantations hardened to 5½. Pekins spurted 2s. to 16s. 6d.; Shanghai shed 1 at 1½. Except for Courtaulds, which, after going over that figure, finished ½ up at 7, and Coats, which put on ½ at 2½ ex div. Textiles provided little of interest. Ammunitions and Cottons were dull, though closing unchanged at 25s. 6d., and Calicos were 3d. to 26s. Spinners remained 2-½. John Wood were a firm spot, finishing with a gain of 3d. at 22s., and Textile Investments advanced 1s. to 14s. 6d. The company paid a 10 per cent. interim dividend a short time ago, since when, however, the shares have ruled about 13s. The improvement seems to show a fair appreciation of the company's position. Although nothing continued a quietly firm market since dealings began on the new basis, there came back into favour yesterday, a moderate amount of business being put through. The shares, at 32s. 3d. ex div., which showed a net rise of 2s. on the day. The Letters were freely dealt in on a basis of 4d. to 6d. Imperial Tobaccos, continuing their recovery, pursued 1s. 6d. to 50s. 6d., but B.A.T. were not so good at 3½ ex div., and Godfrey Phillips eased ½ to parity. Gas Stocks were quiet, and Commercial outstanding with improvements of 2 to 5/8. After fluctuating considerably, British Oil and Cake subsided, and later suffered a relapse to 42s. 9d., but by the close a rally left a net change on the day of 6d. to 9d. Central Mexicans were harder at 27s., and Nelson Bros., among Meat shares, put on ½ at 14s. British and Argentine Meat, on the other hand, eased 3d. to 21s. 3d. Welsbach Ord. improved to 1-¼ on Dennis Bros. were firm in the Motor group at 28s. 9d. In the Brewery section, business was in negligible proportions, the day's transactions being chiefly notable for a drop of 15 in Guinness Ord. to 315. Ind. Coope were harder at 1-¼. Gordon Hotels lost ½ at 6½. Maypoles were easier in the Foodstuffs group, closing at 12s.

PLATFORM AND STAGE.

Louis Calvert and Andrew Melville will present their play "Daddalums" in the Gaiety Theatre next week. "Daddalums" is a rough diamond who, having amassed wealth, sets up house in a tapestried mansion and tries to arrange for his son. The son speculates in order to keep his top hat above water, flees from the police, and, making good in Canada, he returns to "Daddalums" on Christmas Day. The company includes Arthur Bawtree, Stanley H. Lloyd, Dorothy Carr, Arnold Kidd, Richard Rawson, F. H. Saxon, Rita Everard, Beatrice Bell, and Victor Lusk, with William Calvert and Gwendoline Hay in leading parts.

At the Theatre Royal next week J. L. Davis and Alfred Zeitland will present, what is described as an entirely new and invigorating tonic, "The Mixture," which includes Renee Reel, from "The Whirl of To-day"; Jack Barker, from "Bran Pie"; Eddie Joye, from "Mr. Manhattan"; Delly Wegman and Richard Wheeler, from the Alhambra Theatre; the Eight Famous Peaches, Gladys Rennard, from "Mr. Manhattan," and Archie Glenn, revue comedian. Other acts include Miss Abbie Mitchell, the singer from the Syncopated Orchestra, and Will Marion Cook, the conductor in "Southern Melodies"; Sammy Shields, comedian; Harry La Vail and Sister, "aerial perfection"; Hart and Hall, "comedians of ideas"; Will Cummin and Partner, in a "non-sensical unique novelty"; Mizuno Troupe, who present "an Eastern combination with a Western atmosphere"; and the Royal Bioscope.

The drama to be produced in the Queen's Theatre next week is "Arrah-na-Pogue, or the Wicklow Wedding." Mr. H. J. Gondron's company includes May Fitzpatrick, May Murnane, and P. J. Bourke, Thomas Moran, J. B. Carrick-ford, Peter MacCormac, H. J. Condron, Leo Strong, Frank Black, Gilbert Greene, Richard Carrickford, Fergus Kelly, Tom Donovan, J. Heanessy.

Eileen and Marjorie, Australian juvenile entertainers from the London Coliseum, occupy the top of the bill for the Tivoli Theatre next week. Turns will be given also by Maureen O'Reilly, dancer; Jack Clevoner, "the wizard of the concertina"; Joyce and Shields, dancers; Stella Magni and Partner, in a vocal, instrumental, and dancing act; Selby and Myers, comedians and dancers; Billie Delhi and Partner, comedy couple; and Pan and Girls, in an acrobatic and dancing novelty.

The Abbey Theatre Company will present on next Tuesday and during the week at 8.15, and at a matinée on Saturday at 2.30, a new play entitled "A Royal Alliance," by Fergus O'Nolan. It will be followed by "The Bribe," by Seumas O'Kelly.

The bill arranged for the Empire Theatre next week includes the Australian Entertainers, who pay a return visit to Dublin. Supporting them are Nellie Steele, comedienne and dancer; Anne Hefferan, Dublin soprano; and Ben George, "the wandering minstrel."

The rehearsals of the Dublin Amateur Orchestral Players will be resumed early in October. Intending members should apply to the Secretary, 21 Nelson street. Students and amateur players of any orchestral instrument are eligible. The music for the first programme includes the Symphony No. 1, Beethoven, and a new work by an Irish composer.

PICTURE HOUSES.

BOHEMIAN PICTURE THEATRE.—On Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday next the principal film to be shown at the Bohemian Picture Theatre is Nasimova, the star of a thousand moods, in "Eye for Eye." The other pictures are a "Light-weight," two-part Sunshine comedy; Graphic, and Irish events. The programme for Thursday, Friday, and Saturday includes Rupert Julian and Jane Novak in "The Fiery Flingers," in "Training Husbands," two-part comedy; Graphic, and Pictorial.

THEATRE DE LUXE.—On Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday a film will be shown in which Jack Pickford appears. Douglas Fairbanks in "Knicker-bocker Buckaroo." On Thursday, Friday, and Saturday a series of pictures on the subject of "Willie Reilly and his Colleen Bawn" will be the attraction.

LA SCALA THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE.—Cecil B. de Mille's latest special production, "For Better, for Worse," which is to be shown at La Scala Theatre next Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, is unusual in many ways. All the characters are real human beings. For those who are already familiar with the style of Cecil de Mille, no further statement is necessary than to say that the picture is his personal production. Jean Schwiller, with Julie Dolaro, in a musical interlude, will appear each afternoon and twice nightly.

KINGSTOWN PAVILION.—Mr. Walhall will be seen on Monday in "The Man Who Found Himself" a story of a woman's redemption. Thursday introduces "A Modern Musketeer," a typical Fairbanks production, combining thrilling drama and sparkling comedy. The short-length subjects on the programme include Mack Sennett's "Winkle's Sunshine," and Big V comedies, as well as "Around the Town," Pathé Gazette, and Pictorial. The orchestra is under the direction of Madame Lucy Donnelly, R.I.A.M.

PRINCESS PICTURE HOUSE, RATHMINES.—Mary Miles Minter plays the principal rôle in "Social Briars," the chief item on the bill to be presented at the Princess Picture House, Rathmines, during the first part of the week. A Metro play entitled "Faith," with Bert Lytell in the leading rôle, will be screened during the week-end. The programme also include comedies, interest, and topical films.

GOLF.

SOUTH OF IRELAND CHAMPIONSHIP.
EASY VICTORY OF CAPTAIN CARTER.
(FROM OUR REPORTER.)

LAHINCH, FRIDAY.

The bogey for the first nine holes of the Lahinch links is 39. McNamara's professional record for the course is 71, made in September, 1910. His score on that occasion for the outward half was 35. To-day Captain Carter, in the second round of his match in the South of Ireland Championship Final, who O'Brien, holed out those nine holes in 35. To describe his golf as excellent would scarcely suffice; nothing like it has been played at Lahinch for a very long time. Captain Carter revels in the strong winds, and he was in his element this evening in the howling wind. O'Brien started pootly, and so in fact, did Carter, but the latter's lapses were on the greens. Carter should have won the first two holes but, missing holeable putts, he had to be content with halves in 6 and 7. Another bad tee shot cost O'Brien the third, which Mike Millown played secured in 4; but, following a half in 4 at the 4th, O'Brien got level at the 5th. Here Carter had to pitch off the hill to the back of the green, and had a short, but missible, downhill putt, with the ground falling away from the hole. He failed to get the half in 3, but he took the next two holes in 5 and 4, and the remaining two holes of the outward journey, being halved, he turned two to the good.

O'Brien's wooden club play was very poor, but his iron play extremely well. He got down a fine long one for 2 at the 10th, where Carter had no chance, but at the 11th Carter was somewhat lucky to obtain a half in 5.

They followed some remarkable putting. Carter sunk a long one for 4 at the 11th, and O'Brien had a 2 at the 13th, so that going to the home half the road the match was in a very interesting state, with Carter 3 holes up. Carter then got a lovely wooden club shot a couple of feet from the side of the flag, but it looked like being deprived of a win when his opponent, following a short tee shot, pitched on with his niblick and rammed down a long putt for 3. But Carter hit his putt straight, and down it went for 2. O'Brien took the "Castle" hole in 5. But Carter was not guilty of his doing so, for he was lying in sand scarcely 2 yards from the hole, and Carter, failing with his two-foot putt, the hole. This was then raining in torrents, and everything was thoroughly drenched. The conditions may have upset O'Brien, who played the next three holes very badly. At the end of the round Carter was three up, having gone round in 77, which represents very good golf in such weather.

Carter :
Out	5	5	4	4	3	4	4	4	= 40
In	4	5	4	5	3	4	5	5	= 37
Total									= 77
O'Brien :
Out	6	5	5	4	3	6	5	4	= 43
In	5	5	6	5	3	6	5	7	= 39
Total									= 82

The conditions were most favourable for the second round in the evening. Carter had the right to his success, and, playing perfect golf, he won the first four holes immediately. He got down a long putt for 3 at the twenty-first being a fine effort. O'Brien completely nonplussed, and the further the match went the larger the score became against him. When Carter won the twenty-fifth he was leading by ten and the twenty-sixth. The match, however, was over by the twenty-fifth, as was a winner by 10 and 9. The scores for the nine holes were :—

Carter	4	5	4	3	5	4	4	4	= 33
O'Brien	6	5	5	5	4	6	3	6	= 44

THE TURF FRAUD CASE.

ANOTHER VERDICT OF GUILTY.

The hearing was continued yesterday at the Old Bailey, London, of the fourth case in the series of Turf frauds. Peter Christian Barrie, amateur jockey, and Horace Samuel Berg, described as a bookmaker's clerk, were charged with conspiracy to obtain stake money and money in bets in respect of the running of Golden Plate in the Wynn Two-Year-Old Plate at Chester on May 4. Barrie had pleaded guilty and Berg not guilty.

The evidence on Thursday was that Golden Plate was non-existent, and that the horse named Hom, purchased by Barrie and Berg, was sent as Golden Plate, and ran, but failed to "win."

Mr. Gray, farmer and trainer, Hedley, near Epsom, said that he was approached by defendant and asked to take a horse to run at Chester. Barrie produced a newspaper and showed him an entry of Mr. Hawkins's Golden Plate for the Wynn Selling Plate. The horse was described as having been privately trained. Barrie said, "This is the horse you are to take to Chester. It is to-morrow."

The Judge—There was no attempt at secrecy in the matter? No, my lord. I questioned him about the owner, Mr. Hawkins, and Barrie said that he knew him in America. He also said that the horse was coming from Ireland, and that he had spoken to Mr. Hawkins, who was quite willing that he should take the horse to Chester. Witness added that Barrie gave him £15 towards expenses, and a note, purporting to be given by Mr. Hawkins, giving him authority to act for the supposed owner of Golden Plate. The horse was consigned in the name of Hawkins, and Barrie instructed him to unload and run it. At Euston Barrie came up, and said that he would go to Chester without witness. At Chester Barrie sent off a number of wires, and told witness to engage a jockey and give him £25 if he won and £10 if placed. Witness engaged Weston, and the horse was drawn on the outside. Barrie told him to take the horse back, but Berg said that he had instructions to take it. He was so disgusted with the horse's running that he thought it not worth while to train him, and he told Berg that he could have the horse at Epsom. He would not do that, but he sent for it at witness's place next day.

Replying to counsel for Berg, witness said that he had been a dupe of Barrie from beginning to end of the disgraceful swindle. Barrie impressed him as a man of means. He had shining Morn and other good horses, for which he had paid £1,000 and £500. In consequence of this and his general good manners and apparent means, witness trusted him throughout this swindle.

The next witness called was the young woman referred to as Miss Jones, whose name is Gertrude Mildred. There was no response, and the Judge ordered a recognisance to be estreated. This closed the case for the prosecution.

Mr. Freedman, for the defendant Berg, asked the jury to say that Berg was an innocent man and a dupe of the arch-villain Barrie.

The jury, without leaving the box, found Berg guilty.

Sentence was deferred also in this case.

DUBLIN AND DISTRICT.

CITY DRAPERY DISPUTE.—About fifty of the employés of Messrs. Crowe, Wilson, and Co., wholesale drapers, Dublin, have been on strike since the 6th inst. for an increase in their pay. The offer of 10/- a week has been refused.

CURRAGH LABOUR TROUBLE SETTLED.—The Irish Civil Service Arbitration Board has advanced the wages of its employés at the Curragh Camp by 10/- per week to 50/- per week. The working hours remain unaltered.

IRISH EMIGRANTS FOR THE UNITED STATES.—At the port of Dublin for the past three months there have been outgoings of emigrants from Ireland, the greater majority of whom were proceeding to the United States.

VISIT OF AUSTRALIAN NUNS.—Nuns of the Order of St. Joseph of the Sacred Heart (Australia), who have been on a visit to Ireland, left for Australia on Wednesday evening last. They were accompanied by Rev. Father Carroll and thirty-four young women who intend joining the Order.

BURGLARY IN BRAY.—Yesterday morning the safe in the shop of Messrs. Lipton's, Quinsboro' road, Bray, was broken into, and between £40 and £50 stolen. The thieves broke the lock of the front door, and in a manner workmanlike manner opened the safe. This is the second robbery which has been committed at Messrs. Lipton's shop in Bray.

BLACKROCK TECHNICAL INSTITUTE.—The Blackrock Technical Institute opens for the session on Monday, 20th inst. The courses in motor engineering is a special feature of the school, which it is intended to develop further. The classes in mathematics are adapted to the needs of students taking professional examinations.

ST. VINCENT'S MALE ORPHANAGE, GLASNEVIN.—The monthly statement of this special work of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul mentions that the receipts were £367 9s. 9d., and the payments £341 5s. 5d., the actual cost of maintenance having been £330 18s. 10d. Five applications for admission were made, but two were declined. Five boys were admitted from the waiting list, and five placed out for situations in which they will be enabled to earn their livelihood.

THE MESSENGER'S ALLEGED THEFT.—In the Northern Police Court, before Mr. Lupton, K.C., Bernard Donnelly, aged 18, Mary's Cottages, Mountjoy street, and John Higgins, 15, Upper Gloucester street, were charged by Detective Owners Brassil and Murphy with stealing socks valued at £15 10/-, the property of Messrs. Rowe and Co., 83 North Earl street, by whom they were employed as messengers. Mr. W. Davis, solicitor, for the defendants, pleaded guilty. They were remanded until Monday.

ALLEGED DESERTION.—In the Southern Police Court yesterday, before Mr. Swifte, K.C., Mr. W. Davis, solicitor, appearing on behalf of the National Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, was granted a warrant for the arrest of William Henry, 134 Townsend street, Dublin, for Mrs. P. Mills McDonnell. A warrant was also issued for the arrest of Martin O'Donnell, now working in the Isle of Man. Mr. Blackburne, Relieving Officer, proved the cases, and Mr. Fitzgerald, solicitor, appeared for the Dublin Guardians.

CLEARANCE OF LIVE STOCK.—Having to some extent relieved the congestion of goods at the port, the principal steamship companies are to-day in a position to make big efforts in the coming week to clear off arrears of live stock still awaiting shipment across the Irish Channel. Double sailings will take place on one route during several days next week, and by this means it is hoped that by the end of next week there may be no grounds left for complaint regarding transit facilities for stock consignments from the Liffey to mainland English ports.

FATAL SHOOTING INCIDENT.—Dr. Louis A. Byrne, City Coroner, held an inquest yesterday on the body of a bakery assistant, Patrick Brabazon, of Moygara, Gurteen, Ballymote, County Sligo, who died in the Richmond Hospital on Wednesday last. He was admitted to the institution on April 15th suffering from gunshot wounds in the left leg. The medical evidence showed that death was caused by wounds, or blood-poisoning followed by wounds, inflicted by a gun. The Coroner said that the person for shooting the deceased man had not been fixed, but he had heard that it was the result of a private quarrel. The jury returned a verdict in accordance with the medical evidence.

ROSCOMMON SHOW.

The annual show in connection with the Roscommon Agricultural Society was held yesterday, and was very successful. The principal prize-winners in the horse section were:—Mr. Willis McDonnell, Mr. James Mullen, Mr. Austin O'Malley, Mr. Thomas O'Dowd. In the cattle classes the principal winners were:—Mr. Murray, Thomas Higgins, Charles White, Henry Hicks, W. J. Flanagan, etc. In the horse-jumping competitions the first prize winners were:—Miss Helen Flanagan and Mr. P. Mills McDonnell. Rev. Father Carney won the weight-guessing competition.

SALE OF EXCELLENT FARM,
KILBARRACK LODGE, SUTTON, CO. DUBLIN.

WE have been instructed by Miss M. McKenna to SELL BY PUBLIC AUCTION, in our SALEROOMS, 4 HAYMARKET, DUBLIN, on THURSDAY, 30th SEPTEMBER, 1920, at 1.30 p.m., all the Interest in his Compact Farm, situated as above, and containing 21a. 1r. 17p., or thereabouts. The Property is held in fee-simple, subject to an annuity of £11 6/11 to the L.L.C. The Lands, which adjoin the main road, leading from Tallaght to Clondalkin, are all in grass of the very best quality, and have an abundant supply of water. The Farm is very easy of access, and, being situated within five miles of the Dublin Cattle Markets, 2¼ miles from Clondalkin Railway Station (G.S. and W. Ry.), and five minutes' walk from the Dublin and Blessington Tram Line, should prove a most desirable investment.

Solicitor—JAMES FAGAN, Esq., 58 Rutland square, W., Dublin. 'Phone 527.

IMPORTANT SALE OF PRIME GRASS FARM.
KILMARUDDRICK ESTATE, OLDCHURCH, GLONDALKIN, CO. DUBLIN.

WE have been favoured with instructions from Mrs. O'Toole to SELL by PUBLIC AUCTION, in our SALEROOMS, 4 HAYMARKET, DUBLIN, on THURSDAY, 30th SEPTEMBER, 1920, at 1 p.m. sharp, all the Interest and Goodwill in her magnificent Grazing Farm, situated as above, and containing 181a. 1r. 20p., subject to the Judicial rent of £136 15s. 9d. half-yearly, R.L.V. £383 0s. 0d.

There is a compact House, containing 4 apartments, on the property, and the Out-offices include cattle sheds, for 30 head, with loft of prime quality, is at present all under grass, is divided into 4 enclosures and fields, which are well fenced and sheltered, and has an abundant supply of water.

This splendid holding is situated within 5 miles of the Metropolitan Markets, and comprises some of the best grazing land on the South side of Dublin. Being so easy of access, and having all the advantages of a splendid road service, it should offer special attractions to Dairy Proprietors, Graziers, Cattle Exporters, etc., and could also be most profitably used as a resting place for cattle.
